Boy Stops Levee Collapse

WEST ALTON, Mo. (AP) — John J. Buehrle, 19, of St. Charles, Mo., upstaged the legendary little Dutch Boy Monday. He wedged his entire body into a falling levee and prevented it from collapsing until help arrived.

"Way beyond the call of duty," was how Cal Davis, St. Charles County civil defense director, described the feat.

Buehrle, a Red Cross volunteer, was carrying sandwiches and drink to men patrolling three levees near the confluence of the rain-swollen Missouri and Mississippi rivers when he saw the leak.

He called for help and returned to find it a six-foot gap with water pouring through.

So Buehrle played human dike until other men rushed in with sandbags to make a more solid repair.

"As far as I'm concerned, he is a bona fide hero," Davis said.

Morehouse to Open Bids

MOREHOUSE -- A second attempt to install a much needed sewage system and water treatment plant will be made here today when bids are slated to be opened at 2 p.m. at the Kiwanis Building. A January bid list was termed "to expensive" by the city council.

City clerk Jack Taylor said that "all bidders are expected to present their bids when they attend the meeting. Seven firms have taken out plans and specifications but none have turned in any bids to my office so I assume they will all present them in person, he explained.

Taylor said that some 498 water meters are in use in Morehouse and he assumed "most of these homes will want to take advantage of a sewer system."

Industrial Groups to Meet

There will be a joint organizational meeting tomorrow at noon for members of the Sikeston Industrial Development Corporation and the Chamber of Commerce Industrial Committee. The meeting will be held at Two Tony's Restaurant.

Chamber to Elect Officers

MALDEN -- Election of officers of the Chamber of Commerce for the coming year will be held Thursday night at 7 p.m. at the Hickory House Restaurant. Tickets are available from members of the membership committee.

Travel Study Starts

A three-day origin destination study began today on routes 84, Y, U and at the Mississippi toll ferry, all near Caruthersville, Willis Graven, maintenance and traffic engineer, District 10 Highway Dept. said today.

Three, six-man crew will be working on the study, 14 hours each day.

The objective of the statewide program is to determine future plans for highway construction by establishing travel patterns and characteristics.

The interviewing crews will stop 50 to 100 per cent of all traffic passing their interviewing station.

Questions asked will concern origin and destination of travel, number of persons in the vehicle, direction in vehicle is traveling and the roads the driver plans to travel in reaching his destination.

Interviews last about one minute, and no questions will be of a personal nature.

Beaten Woman Dies

A suspect has been taken into custody in connection with the death of Leona Hill, 50, of 225 Alabama. The suspect, Rochester Baker, is being taken to Poplar Bluff today for a lie detector test.

Mrs. Hill died at 8:35 p.m. Monday in the Missouri Delta Community Hospital. She was admitted around 3 a.m. Monday morning in critical condition, after being found in her home by Baker, of the same address. She suffered multiple wounds to the head and body.

Baker said he had been gone about 30 minutes, and when he returned, she met him at the door and tried to tell him who had beaten her.

Mrs. Hill, widow of Allen Hill, has a son also named Allen who is in military service.

Police Arrest Suspects

Police have four suspects in custody today following an attempted theft of merchandise from Voelker's Credit Jewlers, 137 east Front St.

Joe Lee Voelker, 820 North Kingshighway, told police one of the suspects was keeping his attention in front of the store while another man was in the back performing the theft. Voelker became excited when he discovered what was going on and caused the thieves to flee to the street.

Voelker hailed a passing patrol car and pointed out the suspects who were running from the scene.

Voelker said six rings valued at $2000 were taken from the store.

Police reported a minor accident at the intersection of Pine and Gladys at 6 p.m. Monday.

Velma R. Stacy, 624 Lanning St., said she was traveling south on Pine Street when the other vehicle pulled out in front of her. The right front end of her 1967 Mercury Comet was damaged in the accident.

The other party, Kenneth Wayne Homra, 108 Illinois St., traveling west on Gladys, was turning left onto Pine when the accident occurred. Homra said he looked and didn't see anyone approaching. Homra's 1968 Ford received damages to the left front end of the vehicle.

Bill Childers, 211 Edward St., told police last night someone had taken his 1969 Honda 450 motorcycle for a joy ride and damaged in in the process. Childers said he found the bike in the Bootheel Lounge parking lot, highway 61, a few feet from where he had parked it.

Police reported the following people were charged with assault and battery, Jim Harris, 108 Thompson St.; Clezell Burnett, 1719 Ford St.; and Mary Ruth Agee, 1719 Ford St.

Ky Says Errors Bog Troop Recall

SAIGON (AP) — Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky declared today the United States erred in delaying the strengthening of South Vietnam's forces and that otherwise most U.S. troops could have been withdrawn this year.

Ky made his remarks in an address to high-ranking officers at South Vietnam's war college. Earlier, he told newsmen that if the Viet and North Vietnamese flatly reject President Nguyen Van Thieu's election proposal, South Vietnam should walk out of the Paris peace talks. But he added that this was his personal opinion.

In his speech to the war college, Ky reviewed what he said were errors made by South Vietnam and by the United States since the middle of 1965. Ky was premier at the start of this period.

He was particularly critical of what he said were two U.S. mistakes. One, he said, was the failure of the United States to modernize the South Vietnamese air force and the other was slowness in building up Saigon's ground forces.

Ky, who was commander of the South Vietnamese air force when he assumed power, contended that if the United States had paid more attention to improving the ARVN instead of concentrating on its own men fighting in Vietnam, the "majority" of U.S. forces could have been withdrawn in 1969.

Ky said that nevertheless under present circumstances, replacement of U.S. forces by the ARVN must continue.

Looking back on the Paris talks, he said "our good will has led us to make many concessions. To make one more concession is nothing but surrender."

Ky seemed to be thus criticizing Thieu's efforts to get the peace talks moving, but he did not mention him by name.

Newsmen asked Ky what his government intends to do now that the National Liberation Front in preliminary statements has rejected Thieu's proposal July 11 for them to join all other factions in elections under international supervision.

"I think we have no choice ... but to continue to fight," he replied.

In Paris, meanwhile, the North Vietnamese delegation issued a statement rejecting Thieu's proposal. It repeated the Communist contention that the Saigon government is an illegal regime and said: "As long as more than 500,000 American and satellite troops remain in South Vietnam, there can be no question of organizing free elections for the South Vietnamese population."

Blackwell Late to Sign Bills

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The last bills enacted by the Missouri Legislature, including $1.3 billion in appropriations, were signed in rapid fashion today without the confusion that clouded the situation a little earlier in the day.

Bills were singned in the Senate at a four-second clip.

It went a little slower in the House where Speaker James E. Godfrey, D-St. Louis, had to wait for the bills to come over from the Senate.

Things looked a little grim for a while in the Senate. The meeting was supposed to start at 10 a.m. but the presiding officer wasn't on hand.

The presiding officer of the Senate, President Pro Tem Earl R. Blackwell, D-Hillsboro, didn't show up for the technical session at 10 a.m., so the Senate marked time until noon.

Blackwell, frequent critic of his fellow Democrat, Gov. Warren E. Hearnes, arrived a little after 11 a.m. and said he was "unavoidably delayed."

Blackwell had set the 10 a.m. opening time himself last Thursday to finish the technical work on 196 House and Senate bills.

At that time Blackwell signed only one bill, the composite measure to boost the cigarette tax from 4 cents a package to 9 cents and allocate all the revenue to public schools. It also puts the state on record as setting aside an additional $35 million each year for aid to public schools.

That feature has some legislative experts questioning the bill's legality. It was a bill sponsored by Blackwell. He signed it and adjourned the Thursday technical session abruptly.

When he didn't show up at 10 a.m. today the majority floor leader, Sen. A. Basey Vanlandingham, D-Columbia, sent a doorkeeper to Blackwell's office to find out when the President Pro Tem would appear in the Senate chamber.

Doorkeeper James W. Dunnavant returned in due course to report he couldn't find Blackwell.

So the Senate, with about half a dozen members present, convened and then recessed until noon to give Blackwell time to show up. That was the same time when the House presiding officer was scheduled to sign the last of the bills, too.

Astronauts Get in Final Review

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) —The Apollo 11 astronauts spent the day before their trip to the moon reviewing the flight plan as servicing of their spaceship continued flawlessly and ahead of schedule for Wednesday's launch.

"We are happy to be ready to fly," said Neil A. Armstrong, the spaceship commander.

At dawn Wednesday, 2½ hours before their scheduled 9:32 a.m. EDT liftoff, Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. and Michael Collins crawl into their capsule to begin man's most ambitious exploration.

The weather outlook was good.

"The three of us have no fear of launching out on this expedition," said Armstrong, set to become earth's first messenger on the moon. "I'm sure that American ingenuity and American craftsmanship have given us the best equipment that can be made available. We are happy to be ready to fly."

Janet Armstrong, the astronaut's wife, arrived during the night to be at the Cape when Apollo 11 vaults into the heavens. The other wives stayed home in Houston, Tex.

"I plan to sleep, lie in the sun and read the flight plan— again," said Collins of their pre-launch day with emphasis on the last word as the three astronauts appeared at a televised news conference Monday night.

Aldrin is scheduled to follow Armstrong down the steps of the steps of their lunar lander early next Monday. Collins remains in orbit overhead in the command ship, awaiting their return.

The astronauts, in sports clothes, were relaxed as they answered questilons.

Not far away, bathed in floodlights like the pampered star it is, stood the 363-foot tall Saturn 5 rocket that will propel them onto the journey dreamed of perhaps since man first walked the earth.

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and former President Lyndon B. Johnson were to be among the million persons expected at this moonport to see the launching.

In the lunar module, which is nested beneath the command and service modules, is a disc the size of a half dollar inscribed with messages of congratulations and goodwill from 73 nations. The microdisc will be implanted in the powdery moon soil.

Russia, which sent a mystery satellite to the moon—with arrival timed nearly to coincide with America's historic launch —delivered no message. Some experts saw in their unmanned vehicle an attempt to pluck soil samples from the moon and return them before Armstrong, Aldrin and Collins can deliver theirs eight days after liftoff.

Asked if he would be disappointed if the Russians first snared lunar dirt, Aldrin said: "I'm sure all of us would. We'd like to return with everything we set out to do on this flight."

What they set out to do was proposed by President John F. Kennedy in 1961: "I believe that this nation should commit itself to achieving the goal before this decade is out, of landing a man on the moon and returning him safely to earth."

Their precise flight plan calls for going into moon orbit at 1:26 p.m. EDT Saturday, undocking the lunar lander from the mother ship 24 hours later, and touching down on the moon at 4:19 p.m. Sunday.

But they'll have to wait before making their self-televised imprint on the moon. First they must check the systems to propel them back up to the orbiting mother ship with Collins aboard, then try to sleep for four hours.

Man's first step on the moon is set for 2:21 a.m. next Monday.

Their only hope of rescue is Collins, coming overhead every two hours in the immutable laws of space travel. He has the ability, at a tremendous cost in valuable fuel, of coming down within 9 miles of the surface.

"We would be prepared to go down to the absolute limit," said Collins. "It would be a decision that would be up to mission control."

Collins would be of help only if the lunar vehicle could not leave its self-contained launch pad and go that high to meet him. If not, their death would come after two days on the inhospitable, airless moon.

If everything goes well, they will lift off after a 22-hour stay —loaded with up to 130 pounds of moon dirt—and return to earth July 24.

"I wouldn't say fear is an unknown emotion to us," said Armstrong. "Fear is a characteristic particularly of a knowledge that there may be something that you haven't thought of and feel you might be unable to cope with. Our training and all the work that goes into preparation for flight does everything it can toward erasing those kind of possibilities."

The three spacemen, veterans of other launches, were asked if the tension of being rocketed off was more than watching a friend be launched.

"There is no doubt when you're lying on your back on the saturn 5 there is a different feeling than when you are looking up and seeing some of your compatriots doing the same thing," said Aldrin.

"I think I would sum up my feeling in the word 'anticipation' This is the word that to me characterizes my feelings night now. I look forward to the next few days."

Another time, Aldrin said, "We certainly are thinking positively—we've been thinking positively for very many years." He assured a newsman, "I think we are very well suited to say 'when' we land—not 'if.'"

Collins noted that all the world will be watching the feat that has been compared to the point in evolution when life first emerged from the sea. And he had a complaint.

"I have no television set on board," he said, "and therefore I'm going to be one of the few Americans who's not going to be able to see" the actual landing on the moon. "Save the (television) tape for me."

Luna 15 Moving at Slow Pace

JODRELL BANK, England (AP) — The Soviet moonship Luna 15 is traveling at a slower speed than usual and will take longer than the usual 3½ days to reach the area of the moon, the director of the astronomy station here reported today.

"There is every indication that it may be attempting something new," said Sir Bernard Lovell. He said this could be the recovery of moon rock.

Lovell spoke with newsmen after his giant radio telescope, which has been tracking Luna 15, had discovered the moonship was on a trajectory different from other unmanned Soviet moon flights.

There has been widespread speculation in Moscow that the Soviets may be attempting to steal some of the glory from the planned U.S. manned landing on the moon by bringing back some moon rock first.

Luna 15 had been expected to reach the vicinity of the moon Wednesday, but Lovell said after studying the latest signals picked up from the Soviet spacecraft that it would not reach the moon's vicinity until Thursday morning.

Lovell did not elaborate but scientists described his reasoning this way:

Luna 15 is moving more slowly toward the moon, possibly because it is heavier, from carrying new equipment for a new mission. A slower approach to the moon would save fuel needed to brake the spacecraft for landing and reserve fuel needed for relaunching it for the return trip.

War Breaks out Between Honduras and El Salvador

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP) — A new undeclared war raged in Central America today between Honduras and El Salvador, with each accusing the other of aggression. The Organization of American States ordered a peace team down from Washington.

Honduran authorities charged that Salvadorean ground forces invaded Honduras Monday at two points, and that Salvadorean planes made widespread attacks. Unconfirmed reports said seven cities were bombed.

A dispatch from Guatemala, which borders both countries said Salvadorean officials reported some 1,000 Honduran troops had crossed the border into El Salvador. Sources in Tegucigalpa said the Honduran air force's World War II Corsairs also crossed the frontier and ran into heavy antiaircraft fire.

A CESSNA 182 AIRCRAFT occupied by a Cape Girardeau couple made an emergency landing shortly afternoon Monday in a soybean field one and one-half miles southeast of Benton. The aircraft, occupied by Mr. and Mrs. James Hendrickson, was en route to Cape Girardeau from Baton Route, La. The landing, which occurred in a field of Dewey Hagar, apparently was caused from a shortage of gasoline. Only slight injuries were reported in the occupants.

Split Water Rates Bring Complaints

EAST PRAIRIE -- With all members of the city administration pres-meeting Monday night, after a week's postponement over the holidays, the council heard complaints of recent water rate increase, passed an ordinance, and approved monthly reports.

The water rate complaints were chiefly from beauty shop operators in their homes, where they were charged both a commercial and residential rate.

The council voted to give beauty shops and barber shops two residential rate, in place of the divided rates.

A new dog ordinance was approved. It calls for the licensing and vaccination of all dogs. In addition, all dogs must be penned or on a leash.

Judges and clerks have been appointed for the election of five aldermen to serve with the new city manager at an election Aug. 19.

The report of Collector Mable Fussell showed receipts for June of $7,909.27, was approved.

Monthly bills in amount of $4,232.04 were approved, as was the report of city Judge J. Marvin Bryan who assessed $840 in fines, less $220 in fees.

An insurance package for city buildings, equipment and liability from Joe Webb Insurance Agency in amount of $4,346, was approved.

Present were Mayor Lloyd Hogan, aldermen, K. G. Whittington, David Brumley, Dr. A. L. Weaver and Fremont McTigue; clerk Webb DeField, and city attorney Fielding Potashnick.

New Devices Help Insure Successful Melon Crop

Drouth will not affect the watermelon and cantaloupe season for O. J. James, 418 Missouri, who is one of a number of successful growers near Blodgett.

He will have around 15,000 to 20,000 melons, mostly for area people.

In his many years of growing the fruit, he finds that it takes new devices to overcome bad seasons.

This year he added a system of 30 sprinklers, that will throw out a fine mist for needed moisture. He has a watered his 35-acre field two times this season. Long pipes run from his well, and have the 30 sprinklers mounted on the pipes.

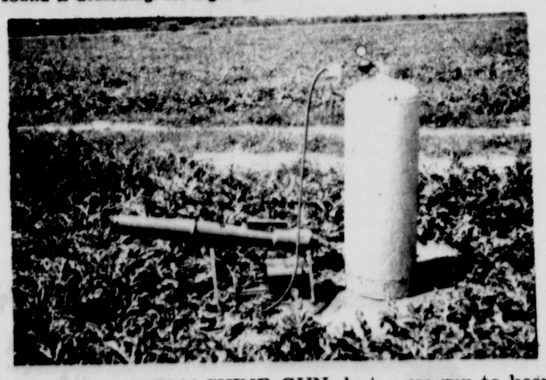

Watermelon growing is now always a success. Prior to the irrigation, an eight-acre field dried up because of the lack of moisture. On top of this loss lightning struck in the middle of his large patch, causing about 25 of them to be lost by the bolt.

His watermelon varieties include Garrisonians, Charleston Greys and Blackstones. Just to try a new variety he brought along watermelon seeds from Kentucky that produce a yellow meat, as a new experiment.

Not to be overlooked, he has a four-acre field of cantaloupes of Hale's jumbo several thousand of them to be place on area tables for the next three or four weeks.

His secret weapon against intruders, mostly crows, and other birds, a bottled gas powered gun. The gun is timed to go off every minute, and the sound is deafening. At night the gun throws out a three-foot long flame that protects his entire planting.

Before the gun was installed, he learned the birds roosting in outlying woods, flew into his patches during past planting. Today the birds take a detour, and not a single intruder has been seen on his 40 acres of fruit.

NOT A SUBMACHINE GUN, but a gas gun to keep flying intruders away from his watermelon and cantaloupe acreages, on the O. J. James farm between Miner and Blodgett. The blast takes off once every minute.

Magistrate Hears 13 Cases

Thirteen cases were heard this morning by Judge M. E. Montgomery during magistrate court proceedings.

James Sloan, route 2, who is charged with careless driving, speeding, illegal possession of intoxicants, driving at night without headlights, resisting arrest, inadequate tail lights, and littering the highway with beer cans, requested a change of venue.

Jim Moore III, Scott County prosecuting attorney, spoke in favor of the change which Judge Montgomery granted.

The case against Tom Dunn, 214 North Kingshighway, was also granted a change of venue. Dunn is charged with disturbing the peace during a wild teenage party held at his home June 18.

Robin John Swiger, Grant Town, W. Va., had his case passed to the circuit court, after wavering preliminary hearing proceedings. Swiger is charged with the theft of a Yamaha motorcycle belonging to Larry Johnston.

Preliminary hearing in the case of Lloyd Adams, Sikeston, who is charged with felonious assault, has been set for July 29. Adams was said to have thrown acid in the face of Henry Freeman, 1601 Oklahoma St., during an argument at Uptown Shell Service, 131 South Kingshighway, last June 30.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS
BADSIDE MANNER

A friend of ours has been in the hospital several days now. In response to our request, he has sent along the following dispatch:

Before I launch into my bill of particulars, let me say that hospitals are still doing a pretty good job, all things considered. With that much endorsement of the institution, I must tell you that things haven't changed much, if any. There is still the undeclared war between patient and nurse. My nurse for example, is a guarder of information. It is her conviction, apparently, that the patient who knows nothing about his ailment, his medication, or his progress will recover faster. Well, I'm recovering - but only because my blood boils at being treated like an imbecile; so I guess, to that extent, it's all to the good.

I said nothing has changed. At least one thing has: I have a telephone by my bed which would terrify an electrical engineer. It was installed ostensibly to provide better service, and possibly even to bring the nurses running. So far, by maladroit dialing, I've managed to declare a hall emergency which subsequently brought the doctor, two interns, four nurses and an orderly to my couch of pain. When I explained my error, they each scaled my a look so baleful as to have put most patients into their ultimate coma.

Some mornings, I take trips in my wheelchair. I am not permitted to propel myself. I'm pushed. Day before yesterday, I was thus delivered to the X-Ray department. My keeper thrust me and my chest against a vertical metal tablet which had apparently been chilled in my honor. When my shoulders had been bent around this object to the point of excruciation, my keeper smiled benignly and said, "Just hold it right there a minute." That was the last I ever saw of him. Finally, someone came and made photos and dropped me back in my room.

Now that I'm ambulatory, I'm a participant in what is called Recreational Therapy. I wouldn't mind so much, I suppose, except that they (it's always "they" in the hospital) have removed my sense of voluntary participation. As you know, my idea of recreational therapy is to go for a brisk sit in a chair, but I can be won over. Not, however, by a sign that says, "All patients are required to participate in Recreational Therapy." It sort of takes the fun out of it and I said so to the Head Therapist. The sign now reads, "All patients are invited to participate . . . " Thought it was the least I could do for those who follow.

Here comes the Angel of Mercy, laden with pills. Burn this.

BUGGING AND THE CONSTITUTION

More accurate than any dialogue written by John O'Hara is the record of actual speech caught by eavesdropping devices of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. A sample line: "I don't think Joe Bananas will ever turn up again. It's been a year since he went."

"Went" in this sense means disappeared forever from public view, and it applies to a prominent member of the Mafia. Collectors of Americana will be endlessly indebted to the FBI for their Mafia and other wiretaps.

The government is now asserting that it has the right to eavesdrop on black militant groups and other radical elements without going through the procedures established by the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act -- the most extensive anticrime legislation in the nation's history -- adopted.

That measure authorized the Attorney General to apply to any federal judge for a warrant approving wire or oral intercepts relating to a wide range of specified federal offenses punishable by death or imprisonment for more than one year. Among these offenses are: violations of the Atomic Energy Act; espionage; sabotage; treason; rioting; unlawful payments or loans to labor organizations; murder, kidnaping; robbery; extortion; bribing public officials or witnesses; sports bribes; wagering offenses; influencing or injuring an officer, juror, or witness; obstructing criminal investigations.

Also: Presidential assassination, kidnaping, or assault; interference with commerce by threats or violence; racketeering offenses; unlawfully influencing an employee benefit plan; theft from interstate shipment; embezzlement from pension and welfare funds; interstate transportation of stolen property; counterfeiting; bankruptcy fraud; narcotics violations or extortionate credit.

This multitude of sins would seem to offer enough justification for federal bugging. But in papers filed in federal District Court in Chicago on June 13, the U. S. Department of Justice said it had the legal power to eavesdrop without court approval on members of organizations that it believes to be seeking to "attack and subvert the government by unlawful means." This is broad enough to include almost anything from the American Nazi Party to Students for a Democratic Society and all the waystops in between.

The Fourth Amendment states: "The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated and no warrants shall issue but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons or things to be seized."

One of President Nixon's first major changes of national policy upon taking office Jan. 20 was to order federal agents' use of electronic surveillance against crime under the authority of the 1968 law. This reversed President Johnson's announced policy from 1965 to 1969 restricting eavesdropping to cases involving the national security.

President Nixon declared at his June 19 news conference that his administration's attitude toward electronic surveillance was "that it should be used very sparingly . . . having in mind the rights of those who might be involved -- but very effectively to protect the internal and external security of the United States." Three days later 13 professors from major law schools joined in a letter to Atty. Gen. Mitchell "firmly condemning" the Justice Department's new bugging policy as one that would "gravely threaten some of our most fundamental liberties as well as the rule of law itself."

BUT WHO'D BE A COP THERE?

Police should avoid arresting violators of the District's disorderly conduct statute, the U. S. Justice Department has advised.

If officers are cursed, said the Justice Department in an eight-page set of guidelines to police, they should "ordinarily refrain from arrests,. . . unless the language . . . tends to incite a crowd."

Rude or obscene gestures or conduct involving profanity "can be handled without arrest because the words or conduct do not intend to incite further disturbance," the guidelines noted, adding that "police should consider the fact that many people use obscene and vulgar words as a major part of their normal conversation and . . . are virtually incapable of expressing themselves in any other manner . . . "

The guidelines had been under preparation since last June, were sent to Public Safety Director Pat Murphy March 15 and were expected to be approved with only minor revisions. The guidelines suggest police procedures under four common types of disorderly conduct situations.

Concerning demonstrations, rallies and picketing - which will arise during Dr. Martin Luther King's "Poor People's Campaign" April 22nd - the guidelines said expression of views by speakers "is not enough to justify a general order . . . to move on."

Acts, but not words, which threaten the peace should result in arrests only if police warnings should fail, the Justice Department advised.

Washington is a nice place to visit, but what policeman would want to work there?

Missouri experienced a slight decrease in the number of traffic fatalities during the first half of 1969 as compared to the same period last year.

The Missouri Highway Patrol reports that through June of this year, 650 persons were killed on the State's streets and highways as compared to 684 in 1968. Rural traffic accidents claimed 491 lives during the first six months of this year and 159 persons died in the urban areas of the State.

The Highway Patrol's Division of Safety found in a study of traffic fatalities for the first half of this year, that May had the most deaths, 147; second highest was April with 111; February accounted for 109; March, 107; January recorded 90 deaths; and June claimed 86 lives on the State's streets and highways.

Included in these state-wide tolls are the 79 pedestrians killed during the first six months of this year. Forty-four pedestrians died in the urban areas of Missouri and 35 were killed in rural traffic.

The study by the Patrol also showed there were 76 multiple death traffic accidents that claimed 185 lives.

In comparing the number of people who died in Missouri traffic accidents during the first half of 1969 with the number killed in the corresponding period last year, the Highway Patrol found the following: There were 16 more fatalities in January of this year than in the same month last year; in February, 27 more; March of this year claimed eight less lives; April recorded 16 less than its corresponding month last year; May nine less; and in June there were 44 less traffic deaths in Missouri than in the corresponding month of 1968.

The Patrol noted that late deaths resulting from injuries sustained in traffic accidents during the first half of the year would be added to the six month toll.

Ben, who is available at One Wall Street, is just too good for my comfort. I keep thinking that the old law of averages will catch up with him one of these days and throw him for a terrible loss. But Ben is unafraid. He is serene. When the Dow was 400 in 1955 he predicted it would go to 1,000 and boldly published the forecast in a book. Today he is still whistling.

A "PARIS" FOR MEN'S FASHIONS?

With the coming of age of men's fashions. it has been seriously suggested that Paris, the heart of the Women's Fashion Industry, be selected as the locale for an annual presentation of men's wear, similar to the haute couture showings in the French capital. There may be some substance to the idea of an international men's fashion get- together -- but Paris is hardly the place for it. The U.S.A. is far ahead of the world in the design, manufacture and distribution of fashionable men's apparel. If there is to be a men's wear centre, as suggested, it should be here.

H.L. Hunt Says

DON'T LET US WEAKEN

Despite the propaganda campaign against Republic USA defending us, concerned citizens all across the country are letting their Congressmen and Senators know that they are opposed to unilateral disarmament. Distressed citizens have seen their city streets and parks taken over and made unsafe by thugs, and the voters have now turned to the right and demanded law and order to stop crime and violence.

Now we are beginning to wake up and see that some of our mistaken officials are trying to do the same thing to our nation in international affairs that they have done at home, which is disarm the protectors of the people while our enemies build up the means to blackmail us or destroy us.

Communist domination of thye entire world has been the openly announced goal of the communists ever since Lenin seized power. Only the U.S.A. stands in the way of that domination. An official report of the House Armed Services Committee gives reason for patriotic citizens to protest our unilateral disarming.

The committee reports that Russia already has 250 attack submarines, while the U.S. has only 105. Russia has 25 surface-to-surface missile ships, the U.S. none. We have 177 destroyers, all but 14 of which are more than 20 years old. Russia has 86, none 20 years old.

If Russian continues to present rate of submarine construction, says the House committee, within four years the communists will have more than three times as many submarines as the U.S. And they will be armed with 1,500-mile range missiles larger than our own Polaris.

These facts make patriots concerned and if their Congressmen receive enough copies of Freedom Letters-to-Editors they will become concerned enough, too, to question the wisdom of foolish paths we pursue today. HLH

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) -- "Your life is its own epitaph," said Claire Bloom.

"Your work isn't. I'm afraid acting has no longevity. It ages and gets out of date in 10 years. It's like an echo you leave with other people. When they die, then you're dead."

This was a surprising admission from the British-born performer, to whom acting has been a lifelong passion since at the age of five she quit playing with dolls because she preferred to recite Shakespeare.

But trying to figure our Claire is like trying to work a Chinese puzzle blindfolded. She has been an anigma since she played Ophelia as a teen-ager and at 20 startled the film world by being picked over hundreds of other girls by Charles Chaplin to appear with him in "Limelight."

Strikingly comely rather than arrestingly beautiful, the dark-haired actress was unusually self-revelatory during a recent luncheon the 21 Club. Necks craned to watch her as she showed up in a French blue jumpsuit.

Under questioning, she said

"I like to work in Hollywood, but don't like to live there. I'm too young to die."

"I've never played comedy except in Shakespeare. I'm better at playing neurotic women. But I'd love to do a romantic comedy film role."

"My philosophy? I know it's very popular to have one, but I don't. I wouldn't dare call my disordered thoughts a philosophy."

"When you're very young you have terribly specific goals. Now I'd just like to take things easier and enjoy life more. It's terribly hard to find good things to do, but I like to think that the time between isn't wasted. Thre are so many things that enrich life. Every second is valuable."

"My best quality? It's probably perseverance. I never give up on a thing once I start it."

"My fears? I have periods when I'm afraid of everything, and periods when I feel strong enough to cope with anything. When I was a young girl and read Sinclair Lewis' 'Main Streets,' I was afraid that I might be trapped in a situation I couldn't get out of. But I'll never feel hat way again, because I've gotten so many things I've wanted."

"The things I like? People who are aware of what happens around them, who are open to anything, and who are good at their jobs-the color yellow because it's like the sun and makes me happy--mornings, before you start going downhilll -- reading, the greatest pleasure in life--baroque music--just plain quiet, the sound of silence -- placid waters--the smell of herbs growing wild in Sardinia -- the taste of white truffles truffles cooked in Italy--shopping for soft, casual, comfortable clothes -- the gleam of mellow gold jewelry-and men who are brighter and quicker than I am."

"The things I dislike are intolerance, because I'm tolerant but try not to be--fried foods, root beer and weak tea -- the dreary smell of cabbage being boiled to death, because it symbolizes to me a whole sad way of life--the sound of street generators on a hot day--hack writing and semiclassical music--Christmas, New Year's and birthdays--pompous people."

"If I live to be 90 I'd like to be staggering across the stage playing a nurse in a play by Chekhov."

Washington - Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

Drew Pearson says: Moon launching is modern miracle; North American was hub of advance preparations; industry and government prove teamwork pays off

DOWNEY, CALIF. -Behind the miracle of the lunar voyage which will last eight days is another miracle which has been lasting eight years. It is the miracle of industrial and government teamwork which has produced the intricate machinery by which man will reach the moon.

A total of 17,000 companies supplied all the component parts, some of them minor, which are going into the launching at Cape Kennedy tomorrow. Of these 9,000 companies made substantial contributions and perhaps twenty developed highly important parts contributing to the launching and all that went before.

However, the most important work took place her in the Los Angeles suburbs where North American-Rockwell built the Apollo command module and all but one of the main rocket engines which will take it on its precarious trip to the moon and back.

This is a project which has been given more scrutiny, more care, than anything ever attempted by man. Illustrating that care, every piece of aluminum, titanium or other material which goes into the Apollo has been traced back through all its manufacturing stages to test it's quality.

The careful assembling of the parts which goes into the moon launch is a miracle of perfection.

To do this, North American has assembled a team of dedicated experts under its president, Lee Atwood, an old aeronautical engineer at Wright Field in Ohio; and under John R. Moore, William Berger, and Dale Myers, who direct the aerospace division. They worked, in turn, with executives of Nasa, whose first administrator, James Webb, was brought to Washington by Ex-Gov. O. M Gardner of North Carolina in the Roosevelt administration and went on to become an executive of Sperry-Rand before heading NASA. Webb has been succeeded by Dr. Thomas Paine, the present administrator. But in the background have been many others, including Dr. Wernher Von Braun, of whom more in a later column. Also in the background, though more or less forgotten, were LBJ and JFK.

--JFK'S Goal was Moon--

It was President Kennedy who determined in 1961 that the United States would reach the moon--period. And it was Lyndon B. Johnson who as chairman of the Senate space committee voted the money and pushed President Eisenhower, even before Kennedy, to catch up with the Russians in space. Later, as Vice President under Kennedy, Johnson was placed in charge of the moon space program.

Many others have contributed to this American miracle of Government-Industrial production, which,incidentally, illustrates what can be achieved when there is no back-seat driving from Congress, and no constant harping about the invasion of states' rights

The industrial-makers range from Boeing, manufacturer of the first stage of the saturn rocket which will push Apollo into space; to aerojet, builder of the critical engine which will return the Apollo to earth; to Grumman, which produce the lunar module; to Westinghouse, McDonnell Douglas, Mit, Minneapolis-Honeywell, Bell, Eagle-Picher, Bendix and Whirlpool.

Pratt-Whitney in connecticut made the intricate machinery by which Apollo produces its own electricity. But unlike Commercial plants which pollute the atmosphere, its byproduct is water which the astronauts drink. Northrop made the prachutes to brake Apollo 11 as it approaches the earth and help reduce its speed from 20,000 miles an hour to a safe landing speed for the splashdown.

The parachutes are neatly tucked into the top of the Apollo, along with cartridges of dynamite which fire them into the air. These parachutes and flammable fluids, which are stowed in the ensemble at Cape Kennedy at the last minute, are the reason for the long advance countdown.

The company which puts the heat-resistant coating over Apollo is AVCO. The apollo was shipped to Boston where AVCO applied a coating which will withstand a heat of 5,000 degrees as it reenters the earth's atmosphere.

So good a job has been done in building the Apollos and protecting their surface that they can be used over again. I inspected Apollo 10 here at the North American-Rockwell plant. It was burned only a little on one side when the Astronauts turned the capsule sideways in order to slow their descent.

--Testing Descent--

North American has constructed a small lake with a higher tower alongside in order to test the descent of all Apollos into the water. It's been found that the capsule can also come down on land, though at slightly more risk. Incidentally, the Russians, who brought their astronauts down on land at first, are now using water.

I went inside Apollo 10. It contains the most compact maze of switches and gadgets I have ever seen, completely confusing to the layman, which increased my respect for the astronauts who can operate them. The cramped quarters also increased my sympathy for the men who must live in what capsule for eight days.

North American has made sure that not one article, not one piece of material inside the Apollo 11, is flammable. Every object has been tested with a heat of 18,000 degrees applied by a blowtorch. Even the couches in which the Astronauts recline are made of heat-resistant plastic.

North American has built 13 additional Apollos, five of them ready for future flights to the moon. They could be shipped to Cape Kennedy next week and ready to launch within a month.

They stand in the so-called "Clean Room," a glistening white room which no one is allowed to enter without wearing a white hat, white coveralls, and having his shoes put through a special cleaner. No one can enter an Apollo itself or even approach it without taking his shoes off or wearing white bootees.

Dirt, especially human hair, is the chief enemy of the delicate machinery inside the capsule. Every capsule is vacuumed regularly, and the dirty--only a miniscule amount--is kept in plastic envelopes in showcases outside the "Clean Room."

Such is part of the modern miracle performed by industry and government which will make possible the lunar launch tomorrow.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

MOON LABEL:
Unionizing The Universe

Washington, D. C. -- Second man on the moon will be the universe's first orbital mechanic -- Col. Edwin (Buzz) Aldrin Jr. He will be the staellite's first union man, for he is a gold card-carrying member of the International Assn. of Machinists and Aerospce Workers.

This IAM does not enroll members easily. The Colonel who will pilot the lunar module (LEM) to the mysterious surface, served his apprenticeship in cold, black outer space. He now has five and a half hours seniority over any interstellar human. He spent those hours during the November 1966 four-day Gemini 12 mission working outside his spacecraft performing the universe's first orbital mechanics.

So for the moment the colonel is the Machinists' first, one-man moon Local. Sounds like Jules Verne got bitten by a business agent. But, with nine moor shoots to follow Apollo 11, government specialists are thinking in terms of light, swift construction -- without cement, without mortar, without water, but with cold metal component parts which will have to be blasted up to the moon site and bolted together.

Sooner than later, construction technicians will have to be "flown" in. How many and how soon depends, I'm told, on confidential plans of the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers which will handle the "construct" job for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA).

Its commanding officers are meeting with officials of the Associated General Contractors of America -- such men as AGC president Carl M. Halvorson, and Executive Director William Dunn.

Such lunar construction involving aerospace freight, will be the costliest in the universe -- more expensive even than building in Kansas City, opines Mr. Halvorson.

"This is a fantastic problem in logistics," says the president of the nation's $90 billion industry. "We would have to bring the material up in units, bolt them together and fasten them down. Once there, the work will be traditional enough -- landing pads and shelters will have to be pressurized, oxygenized, heated and air-conditioned with a very sophisticated and tremendous output of heat and cooling if our astronauts are to survive even a few days. Day and night on the moon brings shifts in temperatures of hundreds of degrees in a few hours."

Both labor and management specialists, attempting to avoid being starry-eyed. say it's decades too early to talk in terms of light industry such as has been suggested by Dr. Winfield W. Salisbury, of the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory in Cambridge, Mass.

But the astronauts themselves will have to be housed, and this kind of construction takes extreme expertise -- the scientific kind found only among the building and construction craft union members who have built the 1,000 per cent pure, antiseptic air-conditioned underground electronic control centers for the Pentagon's missile network and nerve centers.

Who, then, goes up? Either the astronauts become construction craftsmen or some carftsmen become Apollo superbaggage.

These AFL-CIO men would have to cross craft lines. They'd have to be lightning-fingered repairmen as well. There are at least 1,500 "space mechanics" at Cape Kennedy. There are the astro-mechanics, members of the IAM, who have helped launch to Mercury, Gemini and other Apollo shots. They're employes of the big aerospace corporations such as Boeing and McDonnell Douglas. They're proud of the precision of their craft, these hours, as they wander around in SCAPE suits -- Self Contained Protection Ensemble.

SCAPEs are used during tense CDDT hours -- the moments of Count Down Demonstration Tests. These space mechanics are members of nine locals and their regional chief is Robert Duncan, chief representative for the Machinists District 166 at Cocoa Beach, Fla.

Some of these men, some of the experts of other unions, soon enough will be saying seriously: well, we're taking off for the moon. Someone will have to build the very same type of launching pads that were built in the days we called it Cape Canaveral.

Col. Aldrin may well be elected first president of the moon's first Central Labor Council. But whose jurisdiction will Mars be?

Prisoner Of Her Own Thoughts

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I've made some mistakes in my life but as I look back over the past 34 years I see many tragedies over which I had no control. Both my parents were drowned when I was 16. My brother whom I adored was burned to death in a fire. A sister I envied and disliked died in a car accident. To this day I feel as if I murdered her because I was driving.

You may not be able to help me, Ann, but perhaps just expressing my feelings in writing will make me feel better. I am haunted by the fear that I will commit suicide. There are times when I hate living and want to die, but I know suicide is the coward's way out. More important, I have three wonderful children who needs a mother. Their father is away a great deal and I'm afraid he has no real interest in his family.

I am terrified that I will jump out of a window. Whenever I'm near a large open window I panic. I am so afraid of elevators, I'd rather walk up ten flights than go into one.

Can you give me a few sentences of hope? What can I do to get over these hellish feelings? ---- Gwendolyn

Dear Gwendolyn: I almost never recommend books but I'm going to make an exception because I've just read a book that could help save your life. It is called "The Prison Of My Mind", by Barbara Field Benziger. The publisher is Walker. If your bookstore doesn't have it, ask them to get it.

This book is a moving personal account of a courageous woman who conquered mental illness. Her honesty and openness will give encouragement and hope to every person who fears he is cracking up.

The best answer for one who is suicidal is a therapist in whom he has confidence. The author of "Prison of My Mind" emphasizes this point. While Mrs. Benziger credits therapy with saving her life she makes it abundantly clear that not all psychiatrists are humane, kind and competent.

Dear Ann Landers: When parents who are far from rich give a married son and daughter-in-law $3,000 to help them through a financial crisis, are they entitled to get it back? Or are the parents supposed to forget about it because they have more money than the kids?

Two years have passed since we gave them the money and not a word has been said about paying it back. Last night my husband brought up the subject when our son and his wife drove up in a new car. They called us mercenary, money-hungry and worse. There must be others with the same problem. Will you comment, please? -- The Money Bush

Dear Money: What was the understanding when you handed over the $3,000 Did you say, "This is a loan, not a gift?" If you didn't, you should have. A surefire combination for Big Trouble is relatives, money, and nothing on paper. Welcome to the club.

Give in or lose him . . . when a guy gives you this line, look out! For tips on how to handle the super sex salesman, check Ann Landers. Read her booklet, "Necking And Petting -- What Are The Limits?" Send your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper, enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Lillian Hellman: Her Memoirs

AN UNFINISHED WOMAN. By Lillian Hellman. Little, Brown. $7.50.

Lillian Hellman explains the title of her memoir, "All I mean is that I left too much of me unfinished because I wasted too much time." That could sound patronizing to readers who probably have wasted even more time, but it doesn't. You know what she means, so you don't criticize her title. In fact it's hard to find a bad word to say about her book.

Lillian Hellman wrote "The Children's Hour," "The Little Foxes," "Another Part of the Forest" "Toys in the Attic," etc., but this book isn't about her plays. She has dipped into the storage cartons of personal memories and brought forth some of them for view.

There's a chapter about Ernest Hemingway and one about Dorothy Parker, as she knew them, and there are frequent references to writer Dashiell Hammett. There's a section about the war in Spain and reflections about returning from a war to familiar things and people.

Miss Hellman writes so well that disconnected and unexplained references somehow fit into an over-all organization. Her insights and phrases are sharp and often smile-provoking. "Her taste in men was, indeed, bad, even for writer ladies."

An unfinished woman maybe, but not so very unfinished, and fascinating to read about.

Gibson, Carlton Named As All-Star Pitchers

CINCINNATI (AP) — St. Louis Cardinal Manager Red Schoendienst will have plenty of pitchers when he tries for another National League victory in the annual major league AllStar Game on July 22—he nam
0nb5today to the squad.

The American League team will go with eight hurlers.

Schoendienst named six righthanders. They, and their records going into Monday night's games, will be: Larry Dierker, Houston, 12-6; Bob Gibson, St. Louis, 11-7; Juan Marichal, San Francisco, 11-3; Phil Niekro, Atlanta, 14-7; Tom Seaver, New York 14-3, and Bill Singer, Los Angeles, 12-7.

The three left-handers selected are Steve Carlton, St. Louis 11-5; Grant Jackson, Philadelphia, 9-8, and Jerry Koosman, New York, 7-5.

The nine hurlers have a combined won-and-lost record of 101-51.

Only Niekro, Dierker, Singer and Jackson are newcomers to an All-Star squad.

The senior member, of course, is Marichal, who was picked for the eighth time. He has pitched 16 innings in seven such games, allowed seven hits and one earned-run for a 0.56 ERA.

He was the winning pitcher in 1962 in the All-Star game played in Washington—also the scene of this year's contest. Last year he paced the league in victories with a 26-9 mark and also led in complete games with 30.

Gibson is next in All-Star seniority. This was the sixth time for him to be selected. In three pitching performances he has allowed only one earned run in six innings.

Seaver has been named to the squad every year since making good with the Mets three seasons ago. He pitched then 15th and final inning in the 1967 game when the Nationals won 2-1 in the longest game in AllStar history.

Carlton and Koosman are twotimers on the squad and both appeared briefly in the 1968 game. Carlton pitched one inning and Koosman a third of an inning as the Nationals won at Houston 1-0.

The nine pitchers join eight starters named by a vote of players, Schoendiest later will select other plays to round out a 28-man squad.

Bertrand, Parma Win

It was a night for scoring in Four-County Babe Ruth League action last night . . . that is for three of the four teams that were involved in play at Bell City and Parma last night.

Benton was denied a run and allowed only one hit by the hard throwing of Reggie Gregory of the Parma league leaders who posted a 17-0 win in four and one half innings.

Bertrand gained a 10-5 win over Bell City as Mike Morrow collected the win and Crosno two hits and Cilifro a home run. Bell City's Willis McQuire and Lee Rendlemen doubled in runs and had two hits each.

Parma capitalized on 14 walks and outstanding defensive plays in posting its win and holding the league lead.

Wendall Wagner homered, while Mike Garrard tripled and Dale Crews and Van Pawielski doubled for the big blows of the game. Parma had only eight hits, two each by Garrard and Pawielski.

League play resumes Thursday with Parma scheduled at Vanduser and Bell City at Bertrand.

Vanduser Beats Harts

VANDUSER — Sikeston Harts Bread of the city league were defeated 4-1 here last night by the local Babe Ruth team, who are members of the Four-County Babe Ruth league.

A pitching duel developed between David Pobst and Bill Lewis, with the former taking the win. Both allowed but three hits.

Vanduser pushed across three runs in the last of the sixth inning to break a 1-1 tie and held Hartsoff in the seventh for its 10th win against five defeats.

Dove Limits Down

JEFFERSON CITY — Missouri hunters will have a dove season this fall opening Sept. 1 and identical in length with that of last year, according to action by the Missouri Conservation Commission.

The season will run until Oct. 30. The federal Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife of the Department of Interior sets the framwork within which Missouri picks its 60-day season.

Other seasons on federally regulated birds established include a 70-day season on sora and Virginia rails from Sept. 1 to Nov. 9, a 50-day season on Wilson's snipe from Oct. 1 to Nov. 19 and a 65-day woodcock season from Oct. 1 to Dec. 4.

Regulations on gallinules, another shore bird, will be announced later when waterfowl regulations are established.

Bag limits on mourning doves will be 10 daily and 20 in possession, a drop of two from last year's 12 and 24 respectively. Woodcock limits are five daily and 10 in possession. Snipe limit daily is eight and possession limit is 16. The aggregate rail limit is 25 both in the daily bag and in possession.

In all cases, the shooting hours are from a half hour before sunrise to sunset daily.

Little Leaguers

Double figures were reached by three items in Little League play last night as John Deere, Malone & Hyde, Kiwanis, and Lions took wins.

Opening Musical contest saw John Deere take a 16-6 victory over Rotary in five innings. Extra base hits included doubles by T. Hubbert and Littleton and a triple by McCord.

Matthews received the win for John Deere and Vaught suffered the loss for Rotary.

Second game featured a no-hitter behind the combined efforts of Edwards and Shurtleff at Malone & Hyde downed the Daily Standard 17-10.

Vaghn and Edwards belted triples for the only extra base hits in the game.

National division play got underway as Kiwanis defeated A & B Oil by a 16-6 margin. Six extra sackers were doubles by Williams, Slef, C. Miller, Wissman, and Shaffar and a home run by Mills.

Wissman was credited with the pitching win as White was endowed with the loss.

Last game of the night saw Lions down the Jaycees 7-2 with two home runs being hit by Winchester and Watkins. Other extra base hits were doubles by E. Cantrell, Newman, and Eckles.

Winchester received the win from the mound with Cobb suffering the loss.

Dexter C.M. To State

Dexter's high-flying Connie Mack baseball team fought its way to a berth in the Missouri state play-offs Saturday night, sneaking past Bloomfield, 7-6.

The Dexter nine, with Frank Hamra at the helm, held off a determined Bloomfield squad for a well-earned victory.

Dexter now travels to the state play-offs, held July 30, in Independence, Mo. Arrangements for the trip to near Kansas City are incomplete, but Hamra said this week, "We're going -- that's the main thing!"

Gary Blaylock put the icing on the cake Saturday, hitting a home run blast in the seventh with two out and two on. Mick Lynch also had a homer for the winners.

Morris Karnes was the winning hurler, while Baldwin took the loss.

MISSOURI QUAIL hunters are looking forward to another good season this fall. The season and bag limits will be set later in the summer. Rain in some areas may force quail to re-nest, but the birds will do so if early nests are destroyed. (Department of Conservation photo)

Quail Success Tops In 1968

JEFFERSON CITY — It doesn't make much difference where they go, Missouri quail hunters find good shooting. At least this was the picture in 1968 which ranks as one of the finest quail season in history.

Statistics compiled by game biologist Jack Stanford of the Missouri Department of Conservation show remarkably similar figures except in localities where game cover is gone or seriously depleted.

For example, in the Ozark plateau region, hunters flushed an average of four coveys on each hunt. But in the north and eastern Ozark border it was a close 3.8, in the northwest part of the state it was 3.6, in the western Ozark boarder it was 3.4, ranging down to a low of 2.9 in the Mississippi lowlands.

It took .9 hour to hunt up each covey in the northwest, north and eastern Ozark border and Ozark plateau, and scarcely longer (1.0 to 1.4 hours) over the other four areas of the state.

The average birds bagged per covey was almost the same everywhere -- from 2.9 in the Mississippi lowlands and the northwest of 2.2 in the north and east Ozark border.

Quail hunting success was up over 1967 in every region but the western Ozark border -- as much as 34 per cent better in the northeast part of the state.

Hunters averaged seven hunts in November, 7.4 in December and 5.5 in January. They did almost half their covey flushing and killing in November and they all hunted in November while only 79 per cent hunted in December and only 60 per cent braved the January chill.

Stanford's statistics are gathered into a newsletter which he sends to the many observers who help him gather the information -- the rural mail carriers and hunters and the Conservation Department field men whose observations are the base on which the statistics rest.

Dear Editor Blanton,

I was very interested in your article about Seventy-Six Mo. "The Ghost Town." You see, I once visited there for a week with the James H. Smith family. Their daughter, Dorothy, was once my best friend when her father was section foreman of the railroad at Charter Oak. Her brother, George walked the three miles up the railroad to attend high school in Canalou. When they left Charter Oak, they went to Seventy-Six, where Mr. Smith was still section foreman. Other children were Mary, Harvey and Herbert.

I remember a lot of strawberries in the area, and we all picked them for 3 cents per qt. I also remember a spring of very cold water near the depot, which was also near the Smith home.

I was told that the name came from the fact that the small place was the 76th landing on the river below St. Louis - or 76th landing up from New Orleans.

I have lost all trace of the family, but a mutual friend said Mr. Smith and his second wife now live at Neely just above Cape Girardeau. The first Mrs. Smith is deceased.

I just thought you might like to know that someone in this area actually knew a family who once lived there.

Sincerley,
Mrs. Elmer Gruen

Firemen Douse Three Fires

Three grass and trash fires Monday caused little damage.

At 2:20 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Malone, 1004 Allen Blvd., some shrubbery near the house caught fire from a trash can, causing some damage to a large evergreen tree.

The fire department was called at 5:15 p.m. Monday to 203 Adams, where a trash fire burned some spare lumber and fence posts in an alley.

A trash fire was kept under control on a lot of Charles Faucett, near the Dan McCoy Seed Company on Frisco Street Monday at 7:25 p.m. without any damage.

Moon Surface Telecast to Be Treat for Insomniacs

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — America will be a country of sleepy people on Monday, July 21, and television will get the blame.

Man's first step on the surface of the moon will be telecast to earth and retransmitted coast to coast for home viewers. The first television show from the moon with live actors will start at 2:12 a.m. on the East Coast and end at about 4:52 a.m., or perhaps later.

That 2 hours and 40 minutes of television probably will have the poorest technical quality of any of the almost five hours of space television planned for Apollo 11. And it also will be the only portion in black and white.

The telecast will begin just before Neil A. Armstrong steps from a ladder on the moon lander to the lunar surface.

As he comes down the ladder, he'll pull a ring which will open the work bench in one side of the moon lander. The television camera is attached to the work bench and will start telecasting immediately.

The camera will catch a view of Armstrong's first step onto the moon, but the astronaut cautioned that the picture probably won't be top quality.

Forty minutes after his first step on the moon, Armstrong will move the television camera from the side of the moon lander, put it on a tripod and set it up about 30 feet away. The field of view will catch all of the activities of Armstrong and Air Force Col. Edwin E. Aldrin Jr.

These will include a view of Armstrong as he plants the American flag on the moon's surface.

Pictures from the camera on the moon are beamed to the National Radio Astronomy Observatory at Parkes, Australia. The signal then goes by microwave to Sydney, Australia.

From there, they are beamed to the Intelsat III satellite in space over the Pacific Ocean. The space center here receives the signals, processes them and releases them to home viewers.

Another Apollo television camera is on the command module, the mother ship which stays in a 69-mile orbit of the moon. This camera, the same type carried on Apollo 10, transmits in color and will be used for all of the Apollo 11 television except the moon surface portion.

The lunar surface television camera will be abandoned on the moon's surface and will be turned off before the launch from the moon. Officials said the television transmission is impossible during critical periods because of the large amount of critical data that must be transmitted during those periods.

Here is a tentative television schedule, with all times in Eastern Daylight Time:

July 17, 7:32-7:47 p.m., translunar coast, about 150,000 miles from earth.

July 18, 7:32-7:47 p.m., translunar coast, nearing the moon.

July 19, 4:02-4:17 p.m., surface views of the moon from lunar orbit.

July 20, 1:52-2:22 p.m., command module and lunar module flying cose to each other after separation.

July 21: 1:57-2:07 a.m., landing site tracking from command module.

July 21, 2:12-4:52 a.m., moon surface activities. This is the only telecast in black and white.

July 22, 9:02-9:17 p.m., transearth coast.

July 23, 7:02-7:17 p.m., transearth coast.

Sikeston Woman Remembers Seventy-Six

By CAROL WERNECK

Seventy-Six--"it must have been a momentary stop on the Mississippi for at least some boats, and for a long-gone people it must hve been a home," the Daily Standard said about the town of Seventy-Six in the Tuesday, July 8 edition.

Mrs. Eva Sadler Hensley and Mrs. Viola Sadler Stovall disagree.

The now ghost-town was a home for these women, but they are certainly not long-gone.

After Mrs. Hensley, 310 Missouri Ave., read the Associated Press story in the Daily Standard last week, she wrote to the Standard to say she had once lived in Seventy-Six.

In the letter, she told several facts about Seventy-Six (see the Mail Box), including how the town received its name. "I always was told by older people that the man that landed the first boat was on his 76th birthday," Mrs. Hensley wrote.

Then, she and her sister, Mrs. Viola Sadler Stovall, once resident of Sikeston, now living in Marietta, Georgia, consented to an interview. Mrs.Stovall is visiting in Sikeston.

The Sadler sisters remember Seventy-Six when it was full of life.

In the story printed by the Standard last week, the question was posed, "The Hatch store -- whatever happened to Hatch?

The Sadler sisters know what happened to Hatch. He died in the early twenties.

George Hatch owned the whole town of Seventy-Six, Mrs. Hensley said.

"He lived in a big house up on the hill, and we always thought his house was so unique," Mrs. Stovall said. It was a two- story house, with a porch upstairs and a porch downstairs. There were grapevines that twined up and all around the porches.

Hatch had two daughters, Harriet and Genevieve.

"Every Fourth of July, Mr. Hatch gave a big picnic," Mrs. Hensley said. He served strawberry sodas, cream sodas and ice cream.

Seventy-Six was a small town, but it served a fairly large area of other small towns.

About the "some boats" that must have momentary stops, as the previous Seventy-Six story read, the Sadlers remember several more-than - momentary stops.

Seventy-Six residents were in the gain and orchard businesses.

W. L. Pulliam was foreman and overseer of the peach and apple orchards.

A Frisco train ran through Seventy-Six, and carried fruit and grain down to Caruthersville and Sikeston. Boats carried the goods up north.

There was also a stockyard in Seventy-Six. Boats landed at Wilkison landing to get livestock, grain or fruit.

The former residents remember a lighthouse on Wilkison landing where they loved to play.

"We could go up to the top of the lighthouse and see everything for miles around," Mrs. Stovall recalled.

Mrs. Stovall has memories about the Union School which is now covered with creeping vines. She graduated from the eighth grade at the Union School after attending school there for seven years.

"We went to Perryville to get our diplomas -- in a fringed- top surry," Mrs. Stovall said.

All eight grades were taught in one room. One of the teachers at the Union School, Blanch Swan, died in Wyatt, just a few years ago.

Other teachers the Sadlers remember are Bessie Jones, Maude Pickens and Thomas Hemming.

Mrs. Stovall remembers the 40 to 50 students in the school all carried lunch to school in a bucket because there weren't any paper sacks.

Lunches back then didn't consist of bologna sandwiches. Mrs. Hensley said "we got up in the morning and cooked potatoes to pack in our lunch." Everybody canned then, so we ate jelly and bread too.

Seventy-Six was a big attraction in its area, because it was the only town in the area with a post-office. Citizens from neighboring towns such as Frohna, Menfro, Algenburg, Brazeau and Wittenburg used the Seventy-Six post office.

The post-office was located in the General Store, along with the grocery store, the shoe store, yardgoods store, grain store and store for just about anything else.

Mrs. Hensely remembers when her mother bought some beige cream-colored voile to make dresses for the two girls. "She bought the material for three cents a yard at the General Store," she said.

The shoes sold at the General Store were brand named, "Stronger Than Law," Mrs. Stovall recalls.

But, law was something Seventy-Six didn't have. There was no police force and no sheriff. "We didn't have a saloon either," Mrs. Hensley remembers.

Other than the General Store, Hatch's Grain Co. and the Union School, Seventy-Six contained a hotel, a water tower, a depot, a section house and six or seven houses.

"Every family in those six or seven houses was self-supporting," the sisters said.

The hotel contained a dining room, kitchen, living room and about five bedrooms.

The section foreman lived at the section house, and the railroad hand cars were kept there.

Two passenger trains stopped at the depot every day. One came through at 11:30 a.m., and the other came at 4 p.m. Seventy- Six received mail daily from the north and the south because of this Frisco train.

Residents of Seventy- Six obtained from several cold-water springs in the own. "The people who lived up on the hill got their water through a cistern," Mrs. Hensley said.

The Sadlers first moved to Seventy- Six in 1907 when Mrs. Hensley was eight and Mrs. Stovall was five. The family moved back to Seventy-Six in 1911.

Mrs. Hensley moved from Seventy-Six in 1915, at the age of 17, and Mrs. Stovall left in 1918.

The Sadlers sisters said Seventy-Six was still full of people when they left.

PAST RESIDENTS OF SEVENTY-SIX, a presently a ghost-town in Perry County, are Mrs. Viola Sadler Stovall (left) and Mrs. Eva Sadler Hensley, Sikeston. These women remember when Seventy-Six was alive with strawberry sodas and Fourth of July picnics.

Mr. Blanton

In reading your Tuesday July 8 addition.

About 76 Mo. being a ghosttown I spent 10 or more years of my childhood days livening at 76 going to school at which the story says you can't get too it. There was at one time maybe 45 or 50 children went to that school the name of the school was Union School.

My father was sent there by the Missouri Synod of Lutherans Church to be the pastor of Shilo Church which was about 4 miles out in those hills my father work for Mr. S. S. Hatch, he own several hundreds acres of that land he put in apple and peach orchids and father put out patches of strawberries which give the women and children spring work.

Mr. Hatch had a grocery store and dry goods shoes there was at one time a hotel behind the store a depot the depot agent was Alfred Dean.

Also there use to be an apple house which the apples were stored in. The farmers from out in the hilis brought their stock and the boat would land and pick them up to take to market in St. Louis there also was a Blacksmith Shop was run by Doc Crowder. Mr. Hatch had several houses that he would rent for a small amount of money a month. My father would ship the berries by train to St. Louis and there was section work on the railroad for some to work of course we knew nothing about electric or water works, got our water from springs coming out of a hill side. There were colored people work with my father they own their own little farms, if any of these colored people needed a minister they would call on father to perform their wedding ceremony, would preach their funerals, so he was a Shepard over all and minister to all.

As to the name and where the name came from of Seventysix Mo. I always was told by older people that the man that landed the first boat was on his 76th birthday. There is so much more I could say about the little town that is called Seventysix Mo., the Ghost town of too day.

Stoddard Assessment Accepted

DEXTER - The assessed valuation of Stoddard County now stands at $55,440,765, according to information received by Marvin Capps, county clerk, Friday.

This new figure, based on the current setting of valuations, is $5 million higher than the figure for the previous year, and has been "accepted" by the Missouri State Tax Commission.

The assessments were the source of a controversy earlier this year, mainly because the county's schools were losing secondary level school money from the state. The assessments must stand at 30 per cent of true value figure for schools to gain secondary funds.

A "ratio" is figued between the assessments and sale price and the school granted state money accordingly. The current Stoddard County ratio is 18.23, resulting is loss of money.

The Missouri State Tax Commission, through its chairman Hunter Phillips, told the Stoddard County court that the commission would settle for a voluntary $5 million increase in assessments, made voluntarily by the township assessors.

That increase has been made and the Commission has accepted the assessment figure.

The assessed valuation for farm land in Stoddard Countyis now $26,756,635.

Assessed valuation for town lots stands at $9,105,820.

The combined real estate assessments stand at $35,862,455.

Personal property assessments in Stoddard County are now $6,412,262.

The total real and personal assessments in Stoddard County are now $42,274,717.

The railroad and utilities assessments, which are not figured by township assessors, but by the state, add up to $13,166,048. The breakdown: St. Louis - Southwestern Railroad, $2,134,433; Missouri Pacific, $943,143; Missouri Utilities, $1,112,448; gas, $1,364,159; Texas Eastern, $1,120,726; Western Union, $54,643; Southwestern Bell, $6,036,307; United Telephone, $113,209; and Frisco Railroad, $286,980;

Supt. T. S. Hill, Dexter, stated Monday that while the assessment increase "won't affect us this year, there will definitely be an effect for the 1970-71 school year." A detailed report will be forthcoming.

VEGETABLES AS A CASH CROP in Southeast Missouri seemed more of a possibility and less a dream, based on experimental plots viewed last week in a vegatable tour at the University Center near Portageville. Among the more than 50 present were from right, Ted Hull, vegetable consultant for Bootheel Economic Development Council; Jack Pierce, department of community affairs; J. O. Martin, FHA rural development specialist, and B. W. Harrison, district director, division of extension.

Area Vegetable Growing Given Boost By Council

The future of vegetable growing in Southeast Missouri appears so promising that it has become the number one priority project of the Bootheel EconomicDevelopment Council.

That was the point expressed by J. B. Martin, director of B.E.D.C., just prior to a vegetable tour Wednesday, July 9, at the University Delta Center near Portageville and two other plots near Charleston.

B.E.D.C. was chartered May 15, 1968 by the state to coordinate an areawide economic development program in a six- county section of Southeast Missouri.

A serious study of the future of vegetable growing in the area began in October 1968. A vegetable industry committee was established, the members of which are: Chairman, Wendell Choate of Charleston: members, Henry DiCarlo, area horticulture agent; Dr. Victor Lambeth, professor of horticulture, University of Missouri; B. W. Harrison, district director, Division of Extension; and J. B. Martin. The committee, through the Missouri Department of Community Affairs, hired George T. Hull, Jr. as vegetable consultant. Mr. Hull has had ten years experience in vegetable production and marketing. After contacting fifteen (15) vegetable processing companies regarding the potential of the Bootheel for produce crops, he has supervised the test plot growing of various types and kinds of vegetables recommended by these companies. The test plots are located at the Delta Research Center and Bertrand, Missouri.

Another study, that of determining the feasibility of growing sugar beets in the area, has been in progress for seven years.

The test plots have produced a variety of results, some of which are most encouraging.

Don Akerson, an agronomist of the Del Monte corporation, said at the tour that he is favorably impressed with what has been done on the test plots. He cautioned that there are many problems to be overcome to converting sizeable amounts of acreage, but he felt that they are not insurmountable.

Judging from the results of this year's experiments in the area, he said that pickles, tomatoes, and carrots seem well adapted to the climate, soil and other factors and should be suitable for processing. He pointed out that test results indicate that tomatoes in this area have a better potential than in Deep South areas already in production.

On the plus side, Akerson said that Southeast Missouri soils are good and that the great water potential is especially promising. These are prime factors considered by prospective processors and fresh markets, he added.

The acceptance of mechanical harvesting by local farm operatiohns also is a positive factor, he said, because processors study new areas from a mechanical rather than a manual standpoint.

Over production rcently in some phases of fresh vegetable marketing is a factor that presently does not work in favor of locating fresh markets or processing plants in the area, but he said that such conditions have a way of sometimes changing very rapidly.

B. W. Harrison noted that the present study in vegetable growing involves the time and energy of many people and organizations.

Among them arythe Office of Community Affairs, B.E.D.C., the University of Missouri, research and extension people, MAMOS, local producers, farm chemical and farm machinery people and interested processors. He said that the successful diversion to vegetable growing would have far- reaching effects on the economy and the lives of people in this area.

Martin noted that excellent soil and favorable growing conditions are natural assets of Southeast Missouri and that it necessarily follows that agriculture will always play an important role in the area.

"With these assets and the many millions of dollars already invested in agriculture, it seems logical that the number one priority for B.E.D.C. should be to successfully introduce vegetable production, marketing, and processing to the six- county area we serve. The growing and testing program will require three to five years to establish a program of production that will satisfy the processing companies.

Astrokids Interested in Apollo

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Asked once about his father's profession, the young son of an Apollo astronaut replied that "daddy drives a truck in a sewer."

Another astrokid announced that her father was "up there in the sky flying around in a big, pink balloon."

With disarming disinterest, the astronauts' children somehow usually remain happily oblivious to the whole space flight business.

But this is not the case with most of the children of the moon-bound Apollo 11 astronauts.

Moonship pilot Edwin Aldrin Jr. says his sons, Michael 13, and Andrew, 11, and daughter, Janice, 12 next month, "all of a sudden realize their father is involved in this endeavor of national importance."

He added, however: "I don't have a tremendous amount of opportunity to sit down and discuss things with the children. We find that just to be able to locate them is an event around the house.

"They're extremely independent. We do try to have family get-togethers whenever we can."

Neil Armstrong, the Apollo 11 commander, says sons Eric, 12, and Mark, 6, "are very enthusiastic" about the moon flight, which begins Wednesday at Cape Kennedy, Fla.

"I think they feel as I do that we have a good chance of achieving the goal and they look forward to us completing it. And they're all very interested ... They want to know the details of what we're going to do and how we're going to do it."

Mrs. Armstrong says her older son "has always had an avid interest in space, even before his father was chosen as astronaut. When we lived on the West Coast he would get up willingly at 3 or 4 a.m. on launch mornings to watch the preparations on television with his father."

Command pilot Michael Collins says his three children—Kathleen, 10, Ann, 7 and Michael, 6—"are really too young to appreciate the implications of this flight."

He said he attempted to explain to Michael the "historic import" of the Apollo 8 flight which took three American astronauts around the moon for the first time.

"And he said: 'who's driving?' That's all he wanted to know. You know, the fact that there were, for the first time, human beings around the moon, and all that ... well, that's way over his head.

"So they think going up in space is sort of nice, but you know what else is new?"

Networks Go To Historic Lengths for Appollo Flight

NEW YORK (AP)—From countdown to splashdown, television's cameras will accompany the Apollo 11 astronauts to the surface of the moon and back.

Coverage plans of the historic flight are reaching historic proportions. During the critical phases of the moon landing the three networks will be on the air continuously for at least 30 hours.

Two hour-long previews of the flight will be offered tonight. NBC's special is at 7:30-8:30 p.m. and CBS's at 10-11 p.m. All times are Eastern Daylight.

Coverage of the liftoff, set for 9:32 a.m. Wednesday, begins in the early morning. NBC signs on at 6 a.m. with a special edition of the "Today" show. ABC begins at 7 and CBS at 8 a.m.

Regular progress reports will be aired throughout the flight by the television and radio networks.

The Apollo is to send back the first of at least seven live transmissions for 15 minutes at 7:32 p.m. Thursday. All of the transmissions will be in color except for those from the lunar module on the moon.

On Sunday, as the lunar module Eagle prepares to separate from the command module Columbia the networks will begin approximately 30 hours of continuous coverage. ABC comes on at 12 noon for 30 hours of coverage and CBS and NBC at 11 a.m. for 31 hours.

The extended coverage, which ends at 6 p.m. Monday, will take the mission through the descent of the Eagle, the landing, the walk on the moon, liftoff from the lunar surface and docking with the Columbia.

The lunar module is scheduled to touch down on the moon at 4:23 p.m. Sunday, but Astronaut Neil A. Armstrong will not leave the craft and set foot on the moon until 2:12 a.m. the next morning.

He is to be joined by astronaut Edwin E. "Buzz" Aldrin Jr. for a 2-hour and 40-minute exploration of the area around the capsule. Astronaut Michael Collins will remain aboard the orbiting Columbia.

When Armstrong steps out of the module, an automatic black and white television camera in the descent stage will be activated to transmit pictures of the first footstep on the moon.

A special Trendex survey commissioned by ABC estimates that nearly 50 per cent of the U.S. viewers will stay up for the moon walk. In other parts of the world it will be daylight and hundreds of millions of people in Europe, Africa and Asia are expected to witness the event by satellite television.

Armstrong is scheduled to take the camera out of the descent stage and set it on a tripod 25 feet from the lunar module for a constant view of the astronauts working on the moon.

Obviously, during the period of extended coverage Sunday and Monday there will be long hours between activities. So the networks are lining up all kinds of attractions, from scientific reproductions of the moon's surface to science fiction to moonlight and romance.

Here is a sample of some of the plans:

On CBS, former President Lyndon B. Johnson will discuss his role in the space program, and Orson Welles will discuss the relevance of science fiction.

Duke Ellington is composing a piece of original music on the moon landing for ABC. The network also is setting up a special telephone system so that viewers around the nation can question newsmen about the moon mission. The most pertinent queries will be answered on the air.

NBC will try again to show the Apollo in flight, through the 16-inch telescope at the Fernbank Science Center in DeKalb County, Ga. Van Heflin, James Earl Jones and Julie Harris will read from the letters and journals of famous explorers. Danny Kaye, in his first television appearance in three years, will co-host a portion of the coverage.

Cigarette Price Hike Causes Much Confusion

By E. J. MAYS

Confusion reigned supreme in many quarters Monday afternoon as cigarette smokers and dealers alike attempted to recognize a new Missouri state tax law that raises the price of cigarettes fifty cents per carton, effective today.

The confusion occurred as buyers were faced with a variety of prices on last minute purchases of cartons of smokes, some stores having already added the fifty cent tax -- plus an additional one cent a package manufacturer's cost advance, just as the afternoon shopping reached its heighth.

Major brands of cigarettes were in short supply by 6 p.m.

Some of the confusion was explained but, for the greater portion of would be purchasers it was a veritable "pricing rat race.."

Officials at the Wal-Mart Discount store explained the reason from some of the confusion as customers asked:

"Why have cigarettes gone up to $3.13 and $3.24 a carton today? The tax takes effect tomorrow."

The officials said that "a member of the Missouri Tax Department arrived at Wal-Mart in mid-afternoon and began checking their cigarette inventory. We would have had to pay the additional fifty cent per carton tax, as soon as he finished checking so we just went ahead and made the price advance," they said.

Jobbers would only say "we have raised our prices 51 cents a carton.

On the other hand some super- marts, like Big Star, who say they will add sixty cents a carton -- including a 10 cent manufacturer's increase -- to their cigarette products today, waited and announced a three way price scale of $3.09 for the regular (short) package carton, originally $2.49; $3.19 for the King size cartons, originally $2.59 and $3.29 for the super long cartons. Package prices advanced six cents over the counter to 36 cents and most machines went up to .35 and 40 cents.

In a few cases stores added the manufacturer's increase yesterday and the additional state tax today.

Kentucky areas, where cigarettes sell for $2.47 and $2.58 a carton, or 25 cents a package, are expected to do a land office business in the future from Missourians who work at various plants, just over the line. One Missouri state tax employee said "we haven't received any instructions yet as to checking incoming workers. We may permit their possession of one carton -- for their own use -- and confiscate any additional cigarettes.

Trail of Tears Swimming Pond May Not Reopen

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo. (AP) — A swimming pond in Trail of Tears State Park near Cape Girardeau probably will never reopen again, a Missouri Parks Department official says.

Matt Matheny, associated director of state parks, had announced Friday that the pond was closed indefinitely because tests showed there was bacteria "too numerous to count" in the water.

Matheny said further tests would be made, but added, "I don't think it will ever reopen to swimming. It will be closed indefinitely. There's no way to control pollution in a lake such as this." He said this was because of its small size and stagnant nature.

The Southeast Missourian had made public the polluted condition of the pond in articles which preceded the closing of the pond.

Peak River Crest Yet To Come

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The river city of St. Louis rode out a nuisance flood on the Mississippi Sunday, but authorities warned the worst was yet to come downstream.

The Army Corps of Engineers said the river crested at 35.8 feet, causing only flooding in low lying industrial areas. The crest was 5.8 feet above flood stage.

A spokesman said the river would reach substantial "but not record" levels downstream later in he week. Cape Girardeau, Mo. reported a river stage of 38.3 feet Sunday with an expected crest of 39 feet forecast for Wednesday. Cairo, Ill., reported 37.8 feet Sunday with a crest of 39.5 feet expected Friday.

The spokesman, John Gurley, chief of corps operations in St. Louis, said the rising water would continue to inundate farm land on both sides of the river below St. Louis. Heav crop damage was reported in the vicinity of Ste. Genevieve and federal officials estimated flood waters might cost Missouri farmers $114 million in ruined crops.

The rising waters also submerged tracks of the Frisco railroad between Wittenburg, Mo., and Cape Girardeau.

Above St. Louis flood waters receeded slowly from Hannibal south to St. Louis. Gurley said the weekend crest at dam 24, Louisiana, Mo., equalled the record 22.2-foot mark set in 1947. He blamed the high waters in the Louisiana area on runoff into the Mississippi from the Salt River, a tributary draining north eastern Missouri.

Volunteer crews toiled in 95-degree heat Sunday to bolster agricultural levees in the West Alton, Mo., area. At nearby Quincy, Ill., one quarter of the city was reported still under water.

Guard Plans to Weed out Weak Senior Officers

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Army National Guard, sometimes criticized for spotty leadership, is setting up machinery to weed out weak senior officers.

Starting next year, it was learned, three-man selection boards will meet in every state to review annually the records of officers with 20 years or more of service.

The boards, to include regular Army as well as Guard officers, will decide who stays and who should be dropped.

National Guard bureau officials said this means about 4,000 to 5,000 lieutenant colonels and colonels will be scrutinized each year. Veteran warrant officers also will be subject to annual review.

But guard generals are exempt from what is called "selective retention."

Officials said officers below the rank of lieutenant colonel already are subject to periodic consideration concerning possible promotion, but until now lieutenant colonels and colonels have not had to undergo this sort of review.

Creation of the board is the latest action taken in recent years to strengthen the Army Guard officer corps.

Guard leadership came under heavy fire two years ago as a result of the performance of some Guard units during civil disturbances in Detroit and elsewhere.

Oldest white settlement in North America, north of Florida, is Annapolis Royal, Nova Scotia, founded by the French in 1605.

Cape Schools Set Dress Regulations

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo., (AP) - The Cape Girardeau Board of Education has decreed that boys must not wear their hair over their eyebrows and ears and girls' skirts must go no higher than three inches above the knee.

Wade Callicutt, acting director of secondary education, said the appearance code was recommended by teachers, parents and students.

The regulations will be in force this fall.

Judge Pleas Not Guilty

DEXTER - Jack Ward, Associate Judge of the Stoddard County Court, entered a plea of not guilty Thursday to charges of allowing an unlicensed driver to operate a motor vehicle owned by him.

The hearing, in Magistrate Court, was passed over until Aug. 7.

Judge Ward was represented by James F. Spain, Bloomfield attorney and state representative for Stoddard County.

The charges grew from the arrest of Larry Ward, 15, son of the judge. He was arrested by a Highway Patrolman while operating a motorcycle in Bloomfield.

Bad Month For Doctor

DEXTER - So far, this has been a bad month for Dr. Harold A. Poe.

First, a person or persons still unknown entered his clinic last weekend, and, among other things, took some $3,000 from the office safe.

Then, early Friday, a person or persons unknown stole his 1968 black over green Cadillac from his garage.

The Highway Patrol reported that the theft occurred sometime after midnight. The keys were reported left in the car.

The Cadillac has not been recovered.

TRAVEL TOGS for actress Florinda Bolkan are slick leather trousers, topped with a fringed suede jacket. The Brazilian star was seen at Rome's airport.

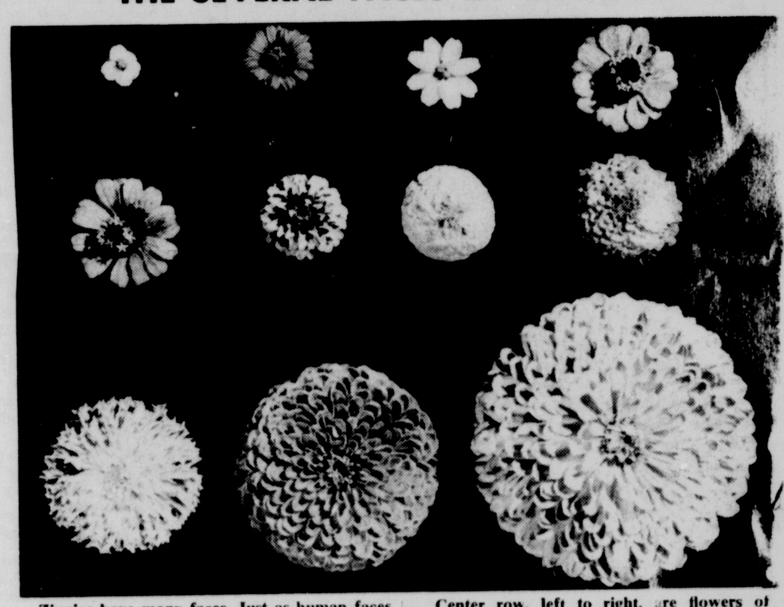

IN THE SPOTLIGHT again, Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas, above, is the subject of inquiries into his association with the family foundation of imprisoned financier Louis Wolfson. Fortas made headlines at the close of the Johnson administration when the Senate balked at his nomination to succeed Chief Justice Warren as Chief Justice.

PENSIVE POSE was assumed by Margie Lindsay, 16-year-old daughter of New York's mayor, when she modeled a blue fox hood during a recent show.

THE SEVERAL FACES OF ZINNIAS

Zinnias have many faces. Just as human faces do, they differ in form, size and color. Left to right on the top row are blooms of a tiny, pumila zinnia, 2nd and 4th are multifloras, 3rd is low-growing, ground-hugging Zinnia linearis. Center row, left to right, are flowers of multiflora, Mexican, Lilliput. Cut and Come Again. Bottom row includes Fantasy or cactus type, dahlia flowered, and a huge, tetraploid zinnia named State Fair for its many prizes.

The range in heights and flower sizes of zinnias is from 3 feet to 8 inches high and from 6 inches to 2 inches across a bloom.

As a result of this wide range, the gardener can look over his planting plan, decide on the size zinnia he wants, select a flower color compatible with nearby plants and find a variety to fulfill his requirements.

Zinnia faces to greet you from your summer garden include the species, linearis, which is an excellent ground cover since the plants grow only 8 inches high.

It also fills window boxes with distinction and can be used to edge the front of talier plantings. The bi-colored, yellow and orange flowers liberally stud the plants.

Up the height scale a bit, growing to a foot high, are the Haageana type, more commonly called Mexican zinnias. The well-known Persian Carpet and Old Mexico are typical. Blooms on each plant of Persian Carpet differ in coloring but all are variations on a red and gold theme.

Old Mexico plants may be 16 inches tall; have 2½ inch wide flowers, variegated red and yellow.

Lilliput zinnias form bushy plants to a foot and a half high bearing double, pompon-shaped blossoms in many colors. Seeds of separate or of mixed colors are available.

Two feet high are the Cut and Come Again (or Elegans pumila) zinnias, placing them between the giants and the lilliputs in height. The dome-shaped flowers are 2½ inches across.

Fantasy, with shaggy but graceful 3 inch blooms on 2½ foot plants is of the cactus type, with quilled petals. The dahlia flowered zinnias boast 4 to 5 inch, double flowers on robust 2½ foot plants.

Topping them all are the tetraploid varieties with double the usual numbers of chromiosomes. These stand a yard high and boast 6 inch wide blooms on disease resistant plants.

State Fair is an example of a tetraploid variety. Instead of separate colors, seeds come for color groups, as lavender and purple, or with all colors mixed.

If You Were the Judge

Developer Held Liable For Poor Heating System

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Charley's attitude was be there ever so many payments, there's no place like a home. Consequently, he went out and bought a brand new one hot off Max's development line.

Before long, however, Charley discovered that his house was anyting but hot. While the twisting pipes of the radiant heating system presented a real cool design, they offered no heat whatsoever. In fact, the system just didn't work.

Hastening to court, Charley sued developer Max for selling him a house with a bum heating plant.

"I saw a blonde the other day," he told the judge, "that created more heat than the pipes in my house."

"Once a builder sells a house," was Max's answer, "he's no longer responsible for it. Like the old saying: Let the buyer beware. Therefore, if the heating system is faulty, it's not my problem.

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you hold Max liable for selling Charley a house with a defective heating system?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that ancient principals of law that make no sense in today's society should be discredited. When a person buys a home, it cannot be disputed that he relies upon the skill of the developer in providing it with a heating system that is reasonably fit for its intended purpose. And if it isn't, the developer should be held accountable. (Based upon a 1968 California Court of Appeals Decision)

A splendid rain fell in this city Tuesday forenoon that was needed on gardens, flower beds and lawns. It likewise ruined a lot of nubbins in the cornfields as much growing corn is in the tassel. Everything looks bully, but all had better wait until after the crops are gathered before spending the money.

ACT NOW—YOUR ENROLLMENT FORM MUST BE MAILED BY MIDNIGHT SAT., JULY 19, OR IT CANNOT BE ACCEPTED

ONE out of two families will have someone in the hospital this year! It could be you—or some beloved member of your family tomorrow . . . next week . . . next month. Sad to say, very few families have anywhere near enough coverage to meet today's soaring hospital costs. These costs have more than doubled in just a few short years. They are expected to double again in the few years ahead.

Stop for a moment. Think how much a long stay in the hospital will cost you or a loved one. How would you ever pay for costly, but necessary, X-rays, doctor bills, drugs and medicines? What would you do with your pay check stopped, but living expenses kept going on the same as ever? The same rent, phone, food, all the day-to-day expenses that never stop.

What is the average breadwinner to do? We believe we have the answer in the famous Presidential EXTRA CASH Plan that Pays you $100.00 a week tax-free cash when you go to the hospital.

What a blessing it is when you know you have an extra $100.00 cash coming in every week – beginning the very first day you enter the hospital.

Now, Presidential's economy plan enables you to enjoy this protection at once. Because it will NOT cost you $20.00. It will NOT cost you $10.00 – or even $5.00. Your special low price is just 25¢ for the first month's coverage for your entire family. Then continue at low Presidential rates.

Your cash benefits increase each year — at no extra cost to you!

And what peace of mind not to worry about rising costs. Your protection automatically increases $3.00 a week each year for 10 years. The first year you get $100.00 a week. You get $103.00 a week in the second year, $106.00 a week in the third year. $109.00 a week in the fourth year. By the eleventh year, your Policy will be worth a full $130.00 a week in benefit payments . . . at no increase in cost to you! This generous cash reserve protection will belong to you for as long as you keep the Policy. You can see that your insurance will be worth much more than the present "face value" of the Policy. Certainly, our increased payments to you will help keep pace with risings costs and–best of all . . .

The increasing benefits come to you at no extra cost. You still pay the regular low Presidential premium!

What other Plan protects you like this today? What other Plan keeps protecting you against rising living costs in the years ahead without increasing your premiums? And that's not all. This special Presidential EXTRA CASH Plan (HP 18L-1067)...

PAYS Up to $10,000.00 CASH for each accident or illness, starting the very first day in the hospital.

PAYS Up to $7,000.00 CASH at the rate of $70.00 A WEEK if you are 65 or over . . . in addition to Medicare.

PAYS $100.00-A-WEEK CASH — if you need a full-time Registered Nurse when you come home from the hospital — up to 50 weeks.

PAYS $1,000.00 EXTRA CASH for accidental death.

PAYS Up to $2,000.00 CASH for accidental loss of limbs or eyesight.

PAYS $100.00-A-WEEK CASH for each pregnancy, when you go to the hospital, assuming both husband and wife have been enrolled in the Family Plan With Maternity.

PAYS Up to $5,000.00 at the rate of $50.00 A WEEK when a child goes to the hospital for any accident or illness when you are enrolled in the Family Plan.

PAYS all cash direct to you (not to doctor or hospital).

65 OR OVER? COLLECT IN ADDITION TO MEDICARE

We have designed this plan as the important addition to what you receive from Medicare – or any other health insurance you may have. Remember, all checks will be sent directly to you (not to the doctor or hospital) to give you that "extra" help just when you need it most. Use the tax-free cash any way you see fit. And you will be glad to know the checks will be big ones! In addition to what you receive from Medicare, Presidential pays you $70.00 a week . . . EVEN FOR 100 WEEKS if necessary! You can receive as much as $7,000.00 for each illness or injury when hospitalized!

Pays you $100.00-a-week CASH for a Registered Nurse at Home.

Yes, in addition to the $100.00 weekly checks we send you during your hospital stay, we pay you an extra $100.00 a week if the doctor has you engage a full-time Registered Nurse to take care of you at home.

How comforting it is to know that–after your stay in the hospital, if you've been there three days or more, you can return home to recuperate and yet not be a burden to your loved ones. Yes, if your doctor has you engage a Registered Nurse full time within 5 days after you come home, we'll send you checks for $100.00 a week–for as long as you need the nurse–even up to 50 weeks. It's like having a reserve of $5,000.00 cash to draw on when you need it. These benefits also increase each year by $3.00 a week. Another exceptional feature you have with Presidential . . .

Pays you $100.00-a-week cash maternity benefits.

Ordinary hospital insurance may take care of part of your expenses when you go to the hospital to have a baby. But what policy can you think of that gives you cash to help buy all the things you need for the new baby? Now, if both husband and wife are insured in the wonderful Family Plan With Maternity for the entire period of the pregnancy, you get extra cash to use any way you want. If a pregnancy, childbirth or miscarriage puts you in the hospital for one day, five days, 10 days–as long as necessary–you get $100.00 a week for every day of your confinement, up to 100 weeks.

All these added cash benefits.

Added cash benefits: $1,000.00 cash to your family, if death occurs within 90 days from any accidental injury. Think of how handy the cash can be in time of loss. It can take care of burial expenses without burdening your loved ones.

Added cash benefit: Up to $2,000.00 cash for accidental loss of limbs or eyesight, when the loss occurs anytime within 90 days of the accident. The loss of a limb or eyesight is a terrible thing. Nothing can replace the loss, but a check for $1,000.00 or $2,000.00 brings peace of mind during the period of adjustment.

Added cash benefit: Choose either Family Plan . . . and your children will be covered, too! Presidential pays up to $5,000.00 any time your youngster goes to the hospital . . . for removal of tonsils, appendix or any other illness or injury! Yes, you will receive $50.00 cash, week after week – for as many as 100 weeks, if necessary.

We pay your premiums when you are not able.

As a special consideration to you–if you, your spouse or other adult dependents are hospitalized just 6 weeks or more, all premiums that come due, for the person confined, while still in the hospital after this period will be paid by Presidential. And your protection continues as if you were paying the premiums yourself! Then if you leave the hospital and must return for the same condition before you have resumed full normal activities for 90 days, Presidential will again PAY ANY PREMIUMS WHILE YOU ARE IN THE HOSPITAL–TO A MAXIMUM OF 100 WEEKS per confinement! Your full protection remains in force – you collect up to $10,000.00 for each confinement!

These are the ONLY exclusions!

Your Presidential Policy pays during hospital confinement for every conceivable kind of sickness or accident except conditions caused by: war or any act of war; mental disorders; intoxicants and narcotics; pregnancy except as provided under the maternity benefit provision; where care is in a U.S. Government hospital; and expenses resulting from any sickness or injury you had before the Effective Date of your Policy . . . during the first 2 years only.

This last item is a real help if you already have a health problem. If you are sick before you take out this Policy, you will even be covered for that condition after the Policy has been in effect for only 2 years. Meanwhile, of course, every new condition is immediately covered.

Make your decision carefully.

Think how costly a hospital confinement will be. Imagine paying for those indispensable X-rays, doctor bills, medicines and drugs that are not covered by your present insurance.

Would you be able to afford the quiet and privacy of a private room and a private nurse, should you so desire? Or a telephone to keep in touch with loved ones? Or the rental of a TV set to help pass the lonely hours? Who would pay your bills that keep on coming in at home? Many folks have lost their life savings, their cars, even their homes trying to meet such expenses. And no one knows whose turn it will be next.

Why you must act before the date shown in the Enrollment Form — just a few days from today.

Why do we give you so little time to apply for your insurance Policy – only a few days? Because this is a special Enrollment Period – and as mentioned above, we must receive your Enrollment Form the same time as all the others in order to pass on to you the savings that come from processing many policies at one time. Better still – show it to your own insurance man . . . even though he may very well be working for another insurance company! If he is a personal friend, he has your best interests in mind. So you can believe him when he tells you there is no better bargain available anywhere – at any price!

GRATEFUL POLICYOWNERS PRAISE PRESIDENTIAL PROTECTION

"Let me say the full payment as per the policy was most gratifying. There was doubt in our minds for some time especially where we started with only a first payment of 25¢, but that doubt now has been completely erased. The settlement definitely was in full payment for the time in the hospital and our sincere thanks for the check."

LETHA SCHRECKENGAST, Cedar Rapids, Iowa

"Just a few words to thank you for the prompt manner in which you settled my claim. I certainly will recommend Presidential Life Ins. to my friends."

MRS. SYLVIA LEVIN, Los Angeles, California

Presidential Life rated "A+ Excellent."

Dunne's Insurance Report, the world's largest reporting service, gives Presidential a rating of "A+ EXCELLENT." There is no higher rating a company can attain.

Money-Back Guarantee—in case you change your mind.

Even after you mail your Enrollment Form below . . . even after you examine the Policy in your own home and talk it over with anyone you wish . . . even after all this, you are still free to return the Policy within 15 days after receiving it, and your quarter will be refunded at once. There will be no obligation whatever.

Meanwhile, all during the 15 days you are making up your mind–you'll be protected by $100.00-A-WEEK extra cash benefits, just as if you had already said "yes." That's right, you will be fully covered all this time for any accident which puts you in the hospital, even if you finally decide to return the Policy.

However, after you've seen the Policy for yourself, you will surely agree that this is a tremendous value and you'll want to continue this $100.00-A-WEEK extra cash protection under the Plan that's best for you.

PLAN I — INDIVIDUAL(S) ONLY PLAN:

If you want to cover yourself – or yourself and one or more adult dependents (including your spouse) – then this is the Plan for you. Naturally, at these low rates, we can issue only one Policy of this type per person. Each adult, 18 or over, pays the rate applicable to his or her age.

Age at Enrollment	Monthly Premium
18-39	only $3.95
40-49	only $4.95
50-59	only $5.95
60-74	only $6.95
75 and over	only $8.95

PLAN II — FAMILY PLAN WITH MATERNITY:

This Plan is for the family that is still growing. To the total of the monthly premium for the adults to be insured, just add $5. This entitles you to all maternity benefits. It also covers all your unmarried, dependent children between the ages of 3 months and 19 years who live at home. Future dependent children will be covered when they reach 3 months of age and without any additional charge.

PLAN III — FAMILY PLAN WITHOUT MATERNITY:

This Plan is for the family that is no longer growing. To the total of the monthly premium for the adults to be insured, just add $3. This covers all your unmarried, dependent children between the ages of 3 months and 19 years who live at home.

NOTE: The regular Monthly Premium shown here (for age at time of enrollment) is the same low premium you will continue to pay; it will not automatically increase as you pass from one age bracket to the next! Once you have enrolled in this Presidential Plan, your rate can never be changed because of how much or how often you collect from us–or because of advanced age–but only if there is a general rate adjustment, up or down, on all policies of this type in your entire state!

Act now — "later" may be too late!

TIME IS PRECIOUS! Act quickly! (No salesman will call.) Get your Enrollment Form into the mail today–because once you suffer an accident or sickness, it's TOO LATE to buy protection at any cost. That's why we urge you to act today – before anything unexpected happens.

THESE 23 QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Tell you how Presidential's COST OF LIVING INCOME REPLACEMENT HEALTH AND ACCIDENT PLAN gives you the protection you need – at amazingly low cost!

1. How much will my Policy pay me when I go to the hospital?
   The full amount! You are paid $100.00-A-WEEK cash every single week. And it starts the very first day you are in the hospital. (If you are over 65, you are paid $70.00 a week, in addition to any Medicare benefits you receive.) You are paid $50.00 a week up to 100 weeks every time your children go to the hospital when you are enrolled in the Family Plan.
2. Will I be paid if I am hospitalized for less than a full week?
   You certainly will . . . regardless of whether you are in the hospital for as short a time as one day . . . or as long a time as a week, month, year or more.
3. Does this Plan pay you from the first day of hospitalization?
   Yes! You receive full cash benefits of $100.00 a week starting the very first day you enter the hospital. The coverage begins when we accept your completed form and 25c–that is the day you and your loved ones are covered for any accidents. Sickness coverage begins 30 days after the Effective Date of the Policy.
4. How much do I receive for a Registered Nurse at Home?
   $100.00 A WEEK for up to $5,000.00 after you have been hospitalized for 3 days or more, and your doctor has you employ a full-time Registered Nurse within 5 days after you leave the hospital. Ten years from now it will have increased to $130.00 a week in benefits . . . at no extra cost to you!
5. Are there any accidental death benefits?
   Yes. $1,000.00 cash is paid to your estate when death occurs any time within 90 days of an accident.
6. Will I be paid extra if I lose a limb or eyesight?
   Yes. Presidential pays $1,000.00 for complete accidental loss of one hand or one foot or sight of one eye; $2,000.00 for loss of both hands or both feet or sight of both eyes . . . when dismemberment occurs anytime within 90 days of the accident.
7. How much do we receive for pregnancies?
   If you have the Family Plan With Maternity, you receive $100.00 A WEEK for each pregnancy, childbirth or miscarriage that results in hospital confinement when both husband and wife are enrolled under this Plan for the entire period of pregnancy.
8. Suppose I am paid benefits for any sickness or accident. What happens if I am again hospitalized for the same condition?
   Don't worry. You still collect $100.00 A WEEK for a total of 100 weeks. And if you have already resumed full normal activities for just 90 days, it's considered a new confinement, and you can collect for an additional 100 weeks. Of course, any new condition is covered immediately for a full 100 weeks.
9. How may I use these benefit payments?
   You may use them in any way you wish—for hospital and doctor bills, rent, food, household expenses or anything else. This is entirely up to you.
10. May I apply if I am over 65?
    Yes, you may. Folks any age are welcome to apply—there is no age limit! Members over 65 are paid $70.00 a week plus all Medicare benefits.
11. Can I collect from Presidential even if I carry other insurance?
    Of course. This Plan will pay you in addition to whatever you may receive from policies with any other companies, including Medicare for folks over 65.
12. Why do I need this Presidential Plan in addition to my other hospital and health insurance?
    While hospital costs have doubled in recent years, very few people have doubled their insurance. The chances are one in seven that you will need money to take care of all your other expenses, as well as your hospital bills. Your Presidential checks are rushed to you by mail to use as you see fit.
13. What benefits do my eligible, dependent children get?
    If you choose a Family Type Plan, your dependent eligible children, ages 3 months to 19 years, would receive 50% of all the cash benefits of the basic Plan and 100% of all its other benefits and features (other than Waiver of Premium).
14. May I add future dependent children to my Policy after it is in force?
    Yes, indeed, if you have the FAMILY PLAN WITH MATERNITY. Just notify us when they are 3 months old, and they will be covered without evidence of insurability and without any additional charge.
15. Will my protection be cancelled because I have too many claims?
    No, definitely not! Presidential guarantees never to cancel your protection because you have too many claims or because of advanced age. We also guarantee never to refuse to renew your Policy unless the premium is not paid before the end of the 31-day grace period, or unless renewal is declined on all Policies of this type in your entire state.
16. Will my rates be raised as I grow older or if I have too many claims?
    No matter how many claims you have, or regardless of how long you keep your Policy, your rate will remain the same as it was for your age when you applied. Presidential guarantees never to adjust this rate unless the rates are adjusted on all policies of this type in your entire state.
17. What is not covered by this Policy?
    The only conditions not covered are those caused by: mental disorders; intoxicants and narcotics; where care is in a U.S. Government hospital; expenses resulting from any sickness or injury you had before the Policy Effective Date (during the first 2 years only); act of war. EVERYTHING ELSE IS COVERED–including pregnancy when both husband and wife have been enrolled in the FAMILY PLAN WITH MATERNITY for the entire period of pregnancy.
18. What are the requirements for membership in one of the Presidential Plans?
    You must not have been refused any health, hospital or life insurance; and, to qualify during this Enrollment Period, you must enroll before midnight of the date in the Enrollment Form.
19. Why is this offer good for a limited time only?
    Because, by enrolling a large number of people at the same time, underwriting, processing and policy issuance costs can be kept at a minimum—and we can pass these savings on to you.
20. Besides the savings, are there other advantages to joining Presidential during this Enrollment Period?
    Yes, there certainly are. A very important one is that you do not need to complete a lengthy, detailed application—just your brief form in the lower left hand corner of this page. Also, during this Enrollment Period there are no other requirements for eligibility —and no "waivers" or restrictive endorsements can be put on your Policy!
21. Can other members of my family take advantage of this special offer?
    Yes, as long as they can meet the few requirements listed under Question 18.
22. How does the Money-Back Guarantee work?
    Examine your Policy carefully in the privacy of your own home. If for any reason you are not completely satisfied, return it within 15 days, and we will promptly refund your money. Meanwhile, you will be fully protected while making your decision!
23. How do I join?

Boy Stops Levee Collapse

WEST ALTON, Mo. (AP) — John J. Buehrle, 19, of St. Charles, Mo., upstaged the legendary little Dutch Boy Monday. He wedged his entire body into a falling levee and prevented it from collapsing until help arrived.

"Way beyond the call of duty," was how Cal Davis, St. Charles County civil defense director, described the feat.

Buehrle, a Red Cross volunteer, was carrying sandwiches and drink to men patrolling three levees near the confluence of the rain-swollen Missouri and Mississippi rivers when he saw the leak.

He called for help and returned to find it a six-foot gap with water pouring through.

So Buehrle played human dike until other men rushed in with sandbags to make a more solid repair.

"As far as I'm concerned, he is a bona fide hero," Davis said.

Morehouse to Open Bids

MOREHOUSE -- A second attempt to install a much needed sewage system and water treatment plant will be made here today when bids are slated to be opened at 2 p.m. at the Kiwanis Building. A January bid list was termed "to expensive" by the city council.

City clerk Jack Taylor said that "all bidders are expected to present their bids when they attend the meeting. Seven firms have taken out plans and specifications but none have turned in any bids to my office so I assume they will all present them in person, he explained.

Taylor said that some 498 water meters are in use in Morehouse and he assumed "most of these homes will want to take advantage of a sewer system."

Industrial Groups to Meet

There will be a joint organizational meeting tomorrow at noon for members of the Sikeston Industrial Development Corporation and the Chamber of Commerce Industrial Committee. The meeting will be held at Two Tony's Restaurant.

Chamber to Elect Officers

MALDEN -- Election of officers of the Chamber of Commerce for the coming year will be held Thursday night at 7 p.m. at the Hickory House Restaurant. Tickets are available from members of the membership committee.

Travel Study Starts

A three-day origin destination study began today on routes 84, Y, U and at the Mississippi toll ferry, all near Caruthersville, Willis Graven, maintenance and traffic engineer, District 10 Highway Dept. said today.

Three, six-man crew will be working on the study, 14 hours each day.

The objective of the statewide program is to determine future plans for highway construction by establishing travel patterns and characteristics.

The interviewing crews will stop 50 to 100 per cent of all traffic passing their interviewing station.

Questions asked will concern origin and destination of travel, number of persons in the vehicle, direction in vehicle is traveling and the roads the driver plans to travel in reaching his destination.

Interviews last about one minute, and no questions will be of a personal nature.

Beaten Woman Dies

A suspect has been taken into custody in connection with the death of Leona Hill, 50, of 225 Alabama. The suspect, Rochester Baker, is being taken to Poplar Bluff today for a lie detector test.

Mrs. Hill died at 8:35 p.m. Monday in the Missouri Delta Community Hospital. She was admitted around 3 a.m. Monday morning in critical condition, after being found in her home by Baker, of the same address. She suffered multiple wounds to the head and body.

Baker said he had been gone about 30 minutes, and when he returned, she met him at the door and tried to tell him who had beaten her.

Mrs. Hill, widow of Allen Hill, has a son also named Allen who is in military service.

Police Arrest Suspects

Police have four suspects in custody today following an attempted theft of merchandise from Voelker's Credit Jewlers, 137 east Front St.

Joe Lee Voelker, 820 North Kingshighway, told police one of the suspects was keeping his attention in front of the store while another man was in the back performing the theft. Voelker became excited when he discovered what was going on and caused the thieves to flee to the street.

Voelker hailed a passing patrol car and pointed out the suspects who were running from the scene.

Voelker said six rings valued at $2000 were taken from the store.

Police reported a minor accident at the intersection of Pine and Gladys at 6 p.m. Monday.

Velma R. Stacy, 624 Lanning St., said she was traveling south on Pine Street when the other vehicle pulled out in front of her. The right front end of her 1967 Mercury Comet was damaged in the accident.

The other party, Kenneth Wayne Homra, 108 Illinois St., traveling west on Gladys, was turning left onto Pine when the accident occurred. Homra said he looked and didn't see anyone approaching. Homra's 1968 Ford received damages to the left front end of the vehicle.

Bill Childers, 211 Edward St., told police last night someone had taken his 1969 Honda 450 motorcycle for a joy ride and damaged in in the process. Childers said he found the bike in the Bootheel Lounge parking lot, highway 61, a few feet from where he had parked it.

Police reported the following people were charged with assault and battery, Jim Harris, 108 Thompson St.; Clezell Burnett, 1719 Ford St.; and Mary Ruth Agee, 1719 Ford St.

Ky Says Errors Bog Troop Recall

SAIGON (AP) — Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky declared today the United States erred in delaying the strengthening of South Vietnam's forces and that otherwise most U.S. troops could have been withdrawn this year.

Ky made his remarks in an address to high-ranking officers at South Vietnam's war college. Earlier, he told newsmen that if the Viet and North Vietnamese flatly reject President Nguyen Van Thieu's election proposal, South Vietnam should walk out of the Paris peace talks. But he added that this was his personal opinion.

In his speech to the war college, Ky reviewed what he said were errors made by South Vietnam and by the United States since the middle of 1965. Ky was premier at the start of this period.

He was particularly critical of what he said were two U.S. mistakes. One, he said, was the failure of the United States to modernize the South Vietnamese air force and the other was slowness in building up Saigon's ground forces.

Ky, who was commander of the South Vietnamese air force when he assumed power, contended that if the United States had paid more attention to improving the ARVN instead of concentrating on its own men fighting in Vietnam, the "majority" of U.S. forces could have been withdrawn in 1969.

Ky said that nevertheless under present circumstances, replacement of U.S. forces by the ARVN must continue.

Looking back on the Paris talks, he said "our good will has led us to make many concessions. To make one more concession is nothing but surrender."

Ky seemed to be thus criticizing Thieu's efforts to get the peace talks moving, but he did not mention him: by name.

Newsmen asked Ky what his government intends to do now that the National Liberation Front in preliminary statements has rejected Thieu's proposal July 11 for them to join all other factions in elections under international supervision.

"I think we have no choice ... but to continue to fight," he replied.

In Paris, meanwhile, the North Vietnamese delegation issued a statement rejecting Thieu's proposal. It repeated the Communist contention that the Saigon government is an illegal regime and said: "As long as more than 500,000 American and satellite troops remain in South Vietnam, there can be no question of organizing free elections for the South Vietnamese population."

Blackwell Late to Sign Bills

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The last bills enacted by the Missouri Legislature, including $1.3 billion in appropriations, were signed in rapid fashion today without the confusion that clouded the situation a little earlier in the day.

Bills were singned in the Senate at a four- second clip.

It went a little slower in the House where Speaker James E. Godfrey, D-St. Louis, had to wait for the bills to come over from the Senate.

Things looked a little grim for a while in the Senate. The meeting was supposed to start at 10 a.m. but the presiding officer wasn't on hand.

The presiding officer of the Senate, President Pro Tem Earl R. Blackwell, D-Hillsboro, didn't show up for the technical session at 10 a.m., so the Senate marked time until noon.

Blackwell, frequent critic of his fellow Democrat, Gov. Warren E. Hearnes, arrived a little after 11 a.m. and said he was "unavoidably delayed."

Blackwell had set the 10 a.m. opening time himself last Thursday to finish the technical work on 196 House and Senate bills.

At that time Blackwell signed only one bill, the composite measure to boost the cigarette tax from 4 cents a package to 9 cents and allocate all the revenue to public schools. It also puts the state on record as setting aside an additional $35 million each year for aid to public schools.

That feature has some legislative experts questioning the bill's legality. It was a bill sponsored by Blackwell. He signed it and adjourned the Thursday technical session abruptly.

When he didn't show up at 10 a.m. today the majority floor leader, Sen. A. Basey Vanlandingham, D-Columbia, sent a doorkeeper to Blackwell's office to find out when the President Pro Tem would appear in the Senate chamber.

Doorkeeper James W. Dunnavant returned in due course to report he couldn't find Blackwell.

So the Senate, with about half a dozen members present, convened and then recessed until noon to give Blackwell time to show up. That was the same time when the House presiding officer was scheduled to sign the last of the bills, too.

Astronauts Get in Final Review

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) —The Apollo 11 astronauts spent the day before their trip to the moon reviewing the flight plan as servicing of their spaceship continued flawlessly and ahead of schedule for Wednesday's launch.

"We are happy to be ready to fly," said Neil A. Armstrong, the spaceship commander.

At dawn Wednesday, 2½ hours before their scheduled 9:32 a.m. EDT liftoff, Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. and Michael Collins crawl into their capsule to begin man's most ambitious exploration.

The weather outlook was good.

"The three of us have no fear of launching out on this expedition," said Armstrong, set to become earth's first messenger on the moon. "I'm sure that American ingenuity and American craftsmanship have given us the best equipment that can be made available. We are happy to be ready to fly."

Janet Armstrong, the astronaut's wife, arrived during the night to be at the Cape when Apollo 11 vaults into the heavens. The other wives stayed home in Houston, Tex.

"I plan to sleep, lie in the sun and read the flight plan— again," said Collins of their pre-launch day with emphasis on the last word as the three astronauts appeared at a televised news conference Monday night.

Aldrin is scheduled to follow Armstrong down the steps of the steps of their lunar lander early next Monday. Collins remains in orbit overhead in the command ship, awaiting their return.

The astronauts, in sports clothes, were relaxed as they answered questilons.

Not far away, bathed in floodlights like the pampered star it is, stood the 363-foot tall Saturn 5 rocket that will propel them onto the journey dreamed of perhaps since man first walked the earth.

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and former President Lyndon B. Johnson were to be among the million persons expected at this moonport to see the launching.

In the lunar module, which is nested beneath the command and service modules, is a disc the size of a half dollar inscribed with messages of congratulations and goodwill from 73 nations. The microdisc will be implanted in the powdery moon soil.

Russia, which sent a mystery satellite to the moon—with arrival timed nearly to coincide with America's historic launch —delivered no message. Some experts saw in their unmanned vehicle an attempt to pluck soil samples from the moon and return them before Armstrong, Aldrin and Collins can deliver theirs eight days after liftoff.

Asked if he would be disappointed if the Russians first snared lunar dirt, Aldrin said: "I'm sure all of us would. We'd like to return with everything we set out to do on this flight."

What they set out to do was proposed by President John F. Kennedy in 1961: "I believe that this nation should commit itself to achieving the goal before this decade is out, of landing a man on the moon and returning him safely to earth."

Their precise flight plan calls for going into moon orbit at 1:26 p.m. EDT Saturday, undocking the lunar lander from the mother ship 24 hours later, and touching down on the moon at 4:19 p.m. Sunday.

But they'll have to wait before making their self-televised imprint on the moon. First they must check the systems to propel them back up to the orbiting mother ship with Collins aboard, then try to sleep for four hours.

Man's first step on the moon is set for 2:21 a.m. next Monday.

Their only hope of rescue is Collins, coming overhead every two hours in the immutable laws of space travel. He has the ability, at a tremendous cost in valuable fuel, of coming down within 9 miles of the surface.

"We would be prepared to go down to the absolute limit," said Collins. "It would be a decision that would be up to mission control."

Collins would be of help only if the lunar vehicle could not leave its self-contained launch pad and go that high to meet him. If not, their death would come after two days on the inhospitable, airless moon.

If everything goes well, they will lift off after a 22-hour stay —loaded with up to 130 pounds of moon dirt—and return to earth July 24.

"I wouldn't say fear is an unknown emotion to us," said Armstrong. "Fear is a characteristic particularly of a knowledge that there may be something that you haven't thought of and feel you might be unable to cope with. Our training and all the work that goes into preparation for flight does everything it can toward erasing those kind of possibilities."

The three spacemen, veterans of other launches, were asked if the tension of being rocketed off was more than watching a friend be launched.

"There is no doubt when you're lying on your back on the saturn 5 there is a different feeling than when you are looking up and seeing some of your compatriots doing the same thing," said Aldrin.

"I think I would sum up my feeling in the word 'anticipation' This is the word that to me characterizes my feelings night now. I look forward to the next few days."

Another time, Aldrin said, "We certainly are thinking positively—we've been thinking positively for very many years." He assured a newsman, "I think we are very well suited to say 'when' we land—not 'if.'"

Collins noted that all the world will be watching the feat that has been compared to the point in evolution when life first emerged from the sea. And he had a complaint.

"I have no television set on board," he said, "and therefore I'm going to be one of the few Americans who's not going to be able to see" the actual landing on the moon. "Save the (television) tape for me."

Luna 15 Moving at Slow Pace

JODRELL BANK, England (AP) — The Soviet moonship Luna 15 is traveling at a slower speed than usual and will take longer than the usual 3½ days to reach the area of the moon, the director of the astronomy station here reported today.

"There is every indication that it may be attempting something new," said Sir Bernard Lovell. He said this could be the recovery of moon rock.

Lovell spoke with newsmen after his giant radio telescope, which has been tracking Luna 15, had discovered the moonship was on a trajectory different from other unmanned Soviet moon flights.

There has been widespread speculation in Moscow that the Soviets may be attempting to steal some of the glory from the planned U.S. manned landing on the moon by bringing back some moon rock first.

Luna 15 had been expected to reach the vicinity of the moon Wednesday, but Lovell said after studying the latest signals picked up from the Soviet spacecraft that it would not reach the moon's vicinity until Thursday morning.

Lovell did not elaborate but scientists described his reasoning this way:

Luna 15 is moving more slowly toward the moon, possibly because it is heavier, from carrying new equipment for a new mission. A slower approach to the moon would save fuel needed to brake the spacecraft for landing and reserve fuel needed for relaunching it for the return trip.

War Breaks out Between Honduras and El Salvador

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP) — A new undeclared war raged in Central America today between Honduras and El Salvador, with each accusing the other of aggression. The Organization of American States ordered a peace team down from Washington.

Honduran authorities charged that Salvadorean ground forces invaded Honduras Monday at two points, and that Salvadorean planes made widespread attacks. Unconfirmed reports said seven cities were bombed.

A dispatch from Guatemala, which borders both countries said Salvadorean officials reported some 1,000 Honduran troops had crossed the border into El Salvador. Sources in Tegucigalpa said the Honduran air force's World War II Corsairs also crossed the frontier and ran into heavy antiaircraft fire.

A CESSNA 182 AIRCRAFT occupied by a Cape Girardeau couple made an emergency landing shortly afternoon Monday in a soybean field one and one-half miles southeast of Benton. The aircraft, occupied by Mr. and Mrs. James Hendrickson, was en route to Cape Girardeau from Baton Route, La. The landing, which occurred in a field of Dewey Hagar, apparently was caused from a shortage of gasoline. Only slight injuries were reported in the occupants.

Split Water Rates Bring Complaints

EAST PRAIRIE -- With all members of the city administration pres-meeting Monday night, after a week's postponement over the holidays, the council heard complaints of recent water rate increase, passed an ordinance, and approved monthly reports.

The water rate complaints were chiefly from beauty shop operators in their homes, where they were charged both a commercial and residential rate.

The council voted to give beauty shops and barber shops two residential rate, in place of the divided rates.

A new dog ordinance was approved. It calls for the licensing and vaccination of all dogs. In addition, all dogs must be penned or on a leash.

Judges and clerks have been appointed for the election of five aldermen to serve with the new city manager at an election Aug. 19.

The report of Collector Mable Fussell showed receipts for June of $7,909.27, was approved.

Monthly bills in amount of $4,232.04 were approved, as was the report of city Judge J. Marvin Bryan who assessed $840 in fines, less $220 in fees.

An insurance package for city buildings, equipment and liability from Joe Webb Insurance Agency in amount of $4,346, was approved.

Present were Mayor Lloyd Hogan, aldermen, K. G. Whittington, David Brumley, Dr. A. L. Weaver and Fremont McTigue; clerk Webb DeField, and city attorney Fielding Potashnick.

New Devices Help Insure Successful Melon Crop

KINGSIZE WATERMELONS, at left is Carol Werneck, Daily Standard reporter, holds a 37 - pound Garrisonian melon, and grower O. J. James, with a 34 pounder, taken at his patch north of Miner.

Drouth will not affect the watermelon and cantaloupe season for O. J. James, 418 Missouri, who is one of a number of successful growers near Blodgett.

He will have around 15,000 to 20,000 melons, mostly for area people.

In his many years of growing the fruit, he finds that it takes new devices to overcome bad seasons.

This year he added a system of 30 sprinklers, that will throw out a fine mist for needed moisture. He has a watered his 35-acre field two times this season. Long pipes run from his well, and have the 30 sprinklers mounted on the pipes.

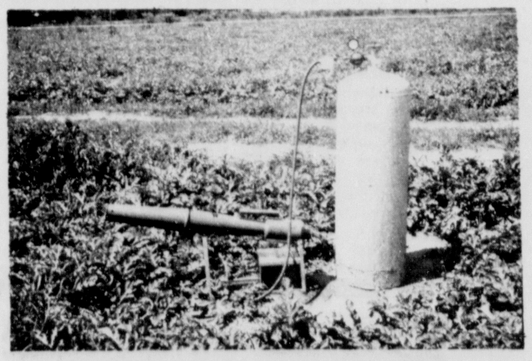

Watermelon growing is now always a success. Prior to the irrigation, an eight-acre field dried up because of the lack of moisture. On top of this loss lightning struck in the middle of his large patch, causing about 25 of them to be lost by the bolt.

His watermelon varieties include Garrisonians, Charleston Greys and Blackstones. Just to try a new variety he brought along watermelon seeds from Kentucky that produce a yellow meat, as a new experiment.

Not to be overlooked, he has a four-acre field of cantaloupes of Hale's jumbo several thousand of them to be place on area tables for the next three or four weeks.

His secret weapon against intruders, mostly crows, and other birds, a bottled gas powered gun. The gun is timed to go off every minute, and the sound is deafening. At night the gun throws out a three-foot long flame that protects his entire planting.

Before the gun was installed, he learned the birds roosting in outlying woods, flew into his patches during past planting. Today the birds take a detour, and not a single intruder has been seen on his 40 acres of fruit.

NOT A SUBMACHINE GUN, but a gas gun to keep flying intruders away from his watermelon and cantaloupe acreages, on the O. J. James farm between Miner and Blodgett. The blast takes off once every minute.

Magistrate Hears 13 Cases

Thirteen cases were heard this morning by Judge M. E. Montgomery during magistrate court proceedings.

James Sloan, route 2, who is charged with careless driving, speeding, illegal possession of intoxicants, driving at night without headlights, resisting arrest, inadequate tail lights, and littering the highway with beer cans, requested a change of venue.

Jim Moore III, Scott County prosecuting attorney, spoke in favor of the change which Judge Montgomery granted.

The case against Tom Dunn, 214 North Kingshighway, was also granted a change of venue. Dunn is charged with disturbing the peace during a wild teenage party held at his home June 18.

Robin John Swiger, Grant Town, W. Va., had his case passed to the circuit court, after wavering preliminary hearing proceedings. Swiger is charged with the theft of a Yamaha motorcycle belonging to Larry Johnston.

Preliminary hearing in the case of Lloyd Adams, Sikeston, who is charged with felonious assault, has been set for July 29. Adams was said to have thrown acid in the face of Henry Freeman, 1601 Oklahoma St., during an argument at Uptown Shell Service, 131 South Kingshighway, last June 30.

A fine of $60 was levied against Lavern Church, Blodgett, for driving 90 m.p.h. in a 60 m.p.h. zone.

Eddie Lee Atchison, Charleston, was fined $35 and costs for speeding.

A fine of $5 was charged against Opel Lee Wells, 17, route two, for operating a vehicle without a license.

A written plea was entered by Lleland Conegy, Sparta, Ill., for driving 70 m.p.h. in a 60 zone. Conegy was fined $10. The same plea, charge, and fine were administered to Lleland L. Vernold, Slater.

Writs of capias were issued against Shelby Polk, St. Louis, charged with speeding and James J. Grishart, Vandaser, who is charged with improper registration of a vehicle. Grishart forefeited a $100 bond.

The case against Juanita Buford, Bell City, who is charged with driving while intoxicated, was extended until July 22.

BADSIDE MANNER

A friend of ours has been in the hospital several days now. In response to our request, he has sent along the following dispatch:

Before I launch into my bill of particulars, let me say that hospitals are still doing a pretty good job, all things considered. With that much endorsement of the institution, I must tell you that things haven't changed much, if any. There is still the undeclared war between patient and nurse. My nurse for example, is a guarder of information. It is her conviction, apparently, that the patient who knows nothing about his ailment, his medication, or his progress will recover faster. Well, I'm recovering - but only because my blood boils at being treated like an imbecile; so I guess, to that extent, it's all to the good.

I said nothing has changed. At least one thing has: I have a telephone by my bed which would terrify an electrical engineer. It was installed ostensibly to provide better service, and possibly even to bring the nurses running. So far, by maladroit dialing, I've managed to declare a hall emergency which subsequently brought the doctor, two interns, four nurses and an orderly to my couch of pain. When I explained my error, they each scaled my a look so baleful as to have put most patients into their ultimate coma.

Some mornings, I take trips in my wheelchair. I am not permitted to propel myself. I'm pushed. Day before yesterday, I was thus delivered to the X-Ray department. My keeper thrust me and my chest against a vertical metal tablet which had apparently been chilled in my honor. When my shoulders had been bent around this object to the point of excruciation, my keeper smiled benignly and said, "Just hold it right there a minute." That was the last I ever saw of him. Finally, someone came and made photos and dropped me back in my room.

Now that I'm ambulatory, I'm a participant in what is called Recreational Therapy. I wouldn't mind so much, I suppose, except that they (it's always "they" in the hospital) have removed my sense of voluntary participation. As you know, my idea of recreational therapy is to go for a brisk sit in a chair, but I can be won over. Not, however, by a sign that says, "All patients are required to participate in Recreational Therapy." It sort of takes the fun out of it and I said so to the Head Therapist. The sign now reads, "All patients are invited to participate . . . " Thought it was the least I could do for those who follow.

Here comes the Angel of Mercy, laden with pills. Burn this.

BUGGING AND THE CONSTITUTION

More accurate than any dialogue written by John O'Hara is the record of actual speech caught by eavesdropping devices of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. A sample line: "I don't think Joe Bananas will ever turn up again. It's been a year since he went."

"Went" in this sen... eans disappeared forever from public view, and it ap... a prominent member of the Mafia. Collectors of ...omatic Americana will be endlessly indebted to the FBI for their Mafia and other wiretaps.

The government is now asserting that it has the right to eavesdrop on black militant groups and other radical elements without going through the procedures established by the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act -- the most extensive anticrime legislation in the nation's history -- adopted.

That measure authorized the Attorney General to apply to any federal judge for a warrant approving wire or oral intercepts relating to a wide range of specified federal offenses punishable by death or imprisonment for more than one year. Among these offenses are: violations of the Atomic Energy Act; espiona... otage; treason; rioting; unlawful payments or loans to labor organizations; murd..., kidnaping; robbery; extortion; bribing public officials or witnesses; sports bribes; wagering offenses; influencing or injuring an officer, juror, or witness; obstructing criminal investigations.

Also: Presidential assassination, kidnaping, or assault; interference with commerce by threats or violence; racketeering offenses; unlawfully influencing an employee benefit plan; theft from interstate shipment; embezzlement from pension and welfare funds; interstate transportation of stolen property; counterfeiting; bankruptcy fraud; narcotics violations or extortionate credit.

This multitude of sins would seem to offer enough justification for federal bugging. But in papers filed in federal District Court in Chicago on June 13, the U. S. Department of Justice said it had the legal power to eavesdrop without court approval on members of organizations that it believes to be seeking to "attack and subvert the government by unlawful means." This is broad enough to include almost anything from the American Nazi Party to Students for a Democratic Society and all the waystops in between.

The Fourth Amendment states: "The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated and no warrants shall issue but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons or things to be seized."

One of President Nixon's first major changes of national policy upon taking office Jan. 20 was to order federal agents' use of electronic surveillance against crime under the authority of the 1968 law. This reversed President Johnson's announced policy from 1965 to 1969 restricting eavesdropping to cases involving the national security.

President Nixon declared at his June 19 news conference that his administration's attitude toward electronic surveillance was "that it should be used very sparingly . . . having in mind the rights of those who might be involved -- but very effectively to protect the internal and external security of the United States." Three days later 13 professors from major law schools joined in a letter to Atty. Gen. Mitchell "firmly condemning" the Justice Department's new bugging policy as one that would "gravely threaten some of our most fundamental liberties as well as the rule of law itself."

BUT WHO'D BE A COP THERE?

Police should avoid arresting violators of the District's disorderly conduct statute, the U. S. Justice Department has advised.

If officers are cursed, said the Justice Department in an eight-page set of guidelines to police, they should "ordinarily refrain from arrests,. . . unless the language . . . tends to incite a crowd."

Rude or obscene gestures or conduct involving profanity "can be handled without arrest because the words or conduct do not intend to incite further disturbance," the guidelines noted, adding that "police should consider the fact that many people use obscene and vulgar words as a major part of their normal conversation and . . . are virtually incapable of expressing themselves in any other manner . . . "

The guidelines had been under preparation since last June, were sent to Public Safety Director Pat Murphy March 15 and were expected to be approved with only minor revisions. The guidelines suggest police procedures under four common types of disorderly conduct situations.

Concerning demonstrations, rallies and picketing - which will arise during Dr. Martin Luther King's "Poor People's Campaign" April 22nd - the guidelines said expression of views by speakers "is not enough to justify a general order . . . to move on."

Acts, but not words, which threaten the peace should result in arrests only if police warnings should fail, the Justice Department advised.

Washington is a nice place to visit, but what policeman would want to work there?

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) -- "Your life is its own epitaph," said Claire Bloom.

"Your work isn't. I'm afraid acting has no longevity. It ages and gets out of date in 10 years. It's like an echo you leave with other people. When they die, then you're dead."

This was a surprising admission from the British-born performer, to whom acting has been a lifelong passion since at the age of five she quit playing with dolls because she preferred to recite Shakespeare.

But trying to figure our Claire is like trying to work a Chinese puzzle blindfolded. She has been an anigma since she played Ophelia as a teen-ager and at 20 startled the film world by being picked over hundreds of other girls by Charles Chaplin to appear with him in "Limelight."

Strikingly comely rather than arrestingly beautiful, the dark-haired actress was unusually self-revelatory during a recent luncheon the 21 Club. Necks craned to watch her as she showed up in a French blue jumpsuit.

Under questioning, she said "I like to work in Hollywood, but don't like to live there. I'm too young to die."

"I've never played comedy except in Shakespeare. I'm better at playing neurotic women. But I'd love to do a romantic comedy film role."

"My philosophy? I know it's very popular to have one, but I don't. I wouldn't dare call my disordered thoughts a philosophy."

"When you're very young you have terribly specific goals. Now I'd just like to take things easier and enjoy life more. It's terribly hard to find good things to do, but I like to think that the time between isn't wasted. Thre are so many things that enrich life. Every second is valuable."

"My best quality? It's probably perseverance. I never give up on a thing once I start it."

"My fears? I have periods when I'm afraid of everything, and periods when I feel strong enough to cope with anything. When I was a young girl and read Sinclair Lewis' 'Main Streets,' I was afraid that I might be trapped in a situation I couldn't get out of. But I'll never feel hat way again, because I've gotten so many things I've wanted."

"The things I like? People who are aware of what happens around them, who are open to anything, and who are good at their jobs-the color yellow because it's like the sun and makes me happy---mornings, before you start going downhilll -- reading, the greatest pleasure in life--baroque music--just plain quiet, the sound of silence -- placid waters--the smell of herbs growing wild in Sardinia -- the taste of white truffles truffles cooked in Italy--shopping for soft, casual, comfortable clothes -- the gleam of mellow gold jewelry-and men who are brighter and quicker than I am."

"The things I dislike are intolerance, because I'm tolerant but try not to be--fried foods, root beer and weak tea -- the dreary smell of cabbage being boiled to death, because it symbolizes to me a whole sad way of life--the sound of street generators on a hot day--hack writing and semiclassical music--Christmas, New Year's and birthdays--pompous people."

"If I live to be 90 I'd like to be staggering across the stage playing a nurse in a play by Chekhov."

"If I May Have Your Ear for Just a Moment . . ."

Missouri experienced a slight decrease in the number of traffic fatalities during the first half of 1969 as compared to the same period last year.

The Missouri Highway Patrol reports that through June of this year, 650 persons were killed on the State's streets and highways as compared to 684 in 1968.

Rural traffic accidents claimed 491 lives during the first six months of this year and 159 persons died in the urban areas of the State.

The Highway Patrol's Division of Safety found in a study of traffic fatalities for the first half of this year, that May had the most deaths, 147; second highest was April with 111; February accounted for 109; March, 107; January recorded 90 deaths; and June claimed 86 lives on the State's streets and highways.

Included in these state-wide tolls are the 79 pedestrians killed during the first six months of this year. Forty-four pedestrians died in the urban areas of Missouri and 35 were killed in rural traffic.

The study by the Patrol also showed there were 76 multiple death traffic accidents that claimed 185 lives.

In comparing the number of people who died in Missouri traffic accidents during the first half of 1969 with the number killed in the corresponding period last year, the Highway Patrol found the following: There were 16 more fatalities in January of this year than in the same month last year; in February, 27 more; March of this year claimed eight less lives; April recorded 16 less than its corresponding month last year; May nine less; and in June there were 44 less traffic deaths in Missouri than in the corresponding month of 1968.

The Patrol noted that late deaths resulting from injuries sustained in traffic accidents during the first half of the year would be added to the six month toll.

With the coming of age of men's fashions. it has been seriously suggested that Paris, the heart of the Women's Fashion Industry, be selected as the locale for an annual presentation of men's wear, similar to the haute couture showings in the French capital. There may be some substance to the idea of an international men's fashion get- together -- but Paris is hardly the place for it. The U.S.A. is far ahead of the world in the design, manufacture and distribution of fashionable men's apparel. If there is to be a men's wear centre, as suggested, it should be here.

DON'T LET US WEAKEN

Despite the propaganda campaign against Republic USA defending us, concerned citizens all across the country are letting their Congressmen and Senators know that they are opposed to unilateral disarmament. Distressed citizens have seen their city streets and parks taken over and made unsafe by thugs, and the voters have now turned to the right and demanded law and order to stop crime and violence.

Now we are beginning to wake up and see that some of our mistaken officials are trying to do the same thing to our nation in international affairs that they have done at home, which is disarm the protectors of the people while our enemies build up the means to blackmail us or destroy us.

Communist domination of thye entire world has been the openly announced goal of the communists ever since Lenin seized power. Only the U.S.A. stands in the way of that domination. An official report of the House Armed Services Committee gives reason for patriotic citizens to protest our unilateral disarming.

The committee reports that Russia already has 250 attack submarines, while the U.S. has only 105. Russia has 25 surface-to-surface missile ships, the U.S. none. We have 177 destroyers, all but 14 of which are more than 20 years old. Russia has 86, none 20 years old.

If Russian continues to present rate of submarine construction, says the House committee, within four years the communists will have more than three times as many submarines as the U.S. And they will be armed with 1,500-mile range missiles larger than our own Polaris.

These facts make patriots concerned and if their Congressmen receive enough copies of Freedom Letters-to-Editors they will become concerned enough, too, to question the wisdom of foolish paths we pursue today. HLH

Washington - Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

Drew Pearson says: Moon launching is modern miracle; North American was hub of advance preparations; industry and government prove teamwork pays off

DOWNEY, CALIF. -Behind the miracle of the lunar voyage which will last eight days is another miracle which has been lasting eight years. It is the miracle of industrial and government teamwork which has produced the intricate machinery by which man will reach the moon.

A total of 17,000 companies supplied all the component parts, some of them minor, which are going into the launching at Cape Kennedy tomorrow. Of these 9,000 companies made substantial contributions and perhaps twenty developed highly important parts contributing to the launching and all that went before.

However, the most important work took place her in the Los Angeles suburbs where North American-Rockwell built the Apollo command module and all but one of the main rocket engines which will take it on its precarious trip to the moon and back.

This is a project which has been given more scrutiny, more care, than anything ever attempted by man. Illustrating that care, every piece of aluminum, titanium or other material which goes into the Apollo has been traced back through all its manufacturing stages to test it's quality.

The careful assembling of the parts which goes into the moon launch is a miracle of perfection.

To do this, North American has assembled a team of dedicated experts under its president, Lee Atwood, an old aeronautical engineer at Wright Field in Ohio; and under John R. Moore, William Berger, and Dale Myers, who direct the aerospace division. They worked, in turn, with executives of Nasa, whose first administrator, James Webb, was brought to Washington by Ex-Gov. O. M Gardner of North Carolina in the Roosevelt administration and went on to become an executive of Sperry-Rand before heading NASA. Webb has been succeeded by Dr. Thomas Paine, the present administrator. But in the background have been many others, including Dr. Wernher Von Braun, of whom more in a later column. Also in the background, though more or less forgotten, were LBJ and JFK.

--JFK'S Goal was Moon--

It was President Kennedy who determined in 1961 that the United States would reach the moon--period. And it was Lyndon B. Johnson who as chairman of the Senate space committee voted the money and pushed President Eisenhower, even before Kennedy, to catch up with the Russians in space. Later, as Vice President under Kennedy, Johnson was placed in charge of the moon space program.

Many others have contributed to this American miracle of Government-Industrial production, which,incidentally, illustrates what can be achieved when there is no back-seat driving from Congress, and no constant harping about the invasion of states' rights

The industrial-makers range from Boeing, manufacturer of the first stage of the saturn rocket which will push Apollo into space; to aerojet, builder of the critical engine which will return the Apollo to earth; to Grumman, which produce the lunar module; to Westinghouse, McDonnell Douglas, Mit, Minneapolis-Honeywell, Bell, Eagle-Picher, Bendix and Whirlpool.

Pratt-Whitney in connecticut made the intricate machinery by which Apollo produces its own electricity. But unlike Commercial plants which pollute the atmosphere, its byproduct is water which the astronauts drink. Northrop made the prachutes to brake Apollo 11 as it approaches the earth and help reduce its speed from 20,000 miles an hour to a safe landing speed for the splashdown.

The parachutes are neatly tucked into the top of the Apollo, along with cartridges of dynamite which fire them into the air. These parachutes and flammable fluids, which are stowed in the ensemble at Cape Kennedy at the last minute, are the reason for the long advance countdown.

The company which puts the heat-resistant coating over Apollo is AVCO. The apollo was shipped to Boston where AVCO applied a coating which will withstand a heat of 5,000 degrees as it reenters the earth's atmosphere.

So good a job has been done in building the Apollos and protecting their surface that they can be used over again. I inspected Apollo 10 here at the North American-Rockwell plant. It was burned only a little on one side when the Astronauts turned the capsule sideways in order to slow their descent.

--Testing Descent--

North American has constructed a small lake with a higher tower alongside in order to test the descent of all Apollos into the water. It's been found that the capsule can also come down on land, though at slightly more risk. Incidentally, the Russians, who brought their astronauts down on land at first, are now using water.

I went inside Apollo 10. It contains the most compact maze of switches and gadgets I have ever seen, completely confusing to the layman, which increased my respect for the astronauts who can operate them. The cramped quarters also increased my sympathy for the men who must live in what capsule for eight days.

North American has made sure that not one article, not one piece of material inside the Apollo 11, is flammable. Every object has been tested with a heat of 18,000 degrees applied by a blowtorch. Even the couches in which the Astronauts recline are made of heat-resistant plastic.

North American has built 13 additional Apollos, five of them ready for future flights to the moon. They could be shipped to Cape Kennedy next week and ready to launch within a month.

They stand in the so-called "Clean Room," a glistening white room which no one is allowed to enter without wearing a white hat, white coveralls, and having his shoes put through a special cleaner. No one can enter an Apollo itself or even approach it without taking his shoes off or wearing white bootees.

Dirt, especially human hair, is the chief enemy of the delicate machinery inside the capsule. Every capsule is vacuumed regularly, and the dirty--only a miniscule amount--is kept in plastic envelopes in showcases outside the "Clean Room."

Such is part of the modern miracle performed by industry and government which will make possible the lunar launch tomorrow.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

MOON LABEL:
Unionizing The Universe

Washington, D. C. -- Second man on the moon will be the universe's first orbital mechanic -- Col. Edwin (Buzz) Aldrin Jr. He will be the staellite's first union man, for he is a gold card-carrying member of the International Assn. of Machinists and Aerospce Workers.

This IAM does not enroll members easily. The Colonel who will pilot the lunar module (LEM) to the mysterious surface, served his apprenticeship in cold, black outer space. He now has five and a half hours seniority over any interstellar human. He spent those hours during the November 1966 four-day Gemini 12 mission working outside his spacecraft performing the universe's first orbital mechanics.

So for the moment the colonel is the Machinists' first, one-man moon Local. Sounds like Jules Verne got bitten by a business agent. But, with nine moor shoots to follow Apollo 11, government specialists are thinking in terms of light, swift construction -- without cement, without mortar, without water, but with cold metal component parts which will have to be blasted up to the moon site and bolted together.

Sooner than later, construction technicians will have to be "flown" in. How many and how soon depends, I'm told, on confidential plans of the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers which will handle the "construct" job for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA).

Its commanding officers are meeting with officials of the Associated General Contractors of America -- such men as AGC president Carl M. Halvorson, and Executive Director William Dunn.

Such lunar construction involving aerospace freight, will be the costliest in the universe -- more expensive even than building in Kansas City, opines Mr. Halvorson.

"This is a fantastic problem in logistics," says the president of the nation's $90 billion industry. "We would have to bring the material up in units, bolt them together and fasten them down. Once there, the work will be traditional enough -- landing pads and shelters will have to be pressurized, oxygenized, heated and air-conditioned with a very sophisticated and tremendous output of heat and cooling if our astronauts are to survive even a few days. Day and night on the moon brings shifts in temperatures of hundreds of degrees in a few hours."

Both labor and management specialists, attempting to avoid being starry-eyed. say it's decades too early to talk in terms of light industry such as has been suggested by Dr. Winfield W. Salisbury, of the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory in Cambridge, Mass.

But the astronauts themselves will have to be housed, and this kind of construction takes extreme expertise -- the scientific kind found only among the building and construction craft union members who have built the 1,000 per cent pure, antiseptic air-conditioned underground electronic control centers for the Pentagon's missile network and nerve centers.

Who, then, goes up? Either the astronauts become construction craftsmen or some carftsmen become Apollo superbaggage.

These AFL-CIO men would have to cross craft lines. They'd have to be lightning-fingered repairmen as well. There are at least 1,500 "space mechanics" at Cape Kennedy. There are the astro-mechanics, members of the IAM, who have helped launch to Mercury, Gemini and other Apollo shots. They're employes of the big aerospace corporations such as Boeing and McDonnell Douglas. They're proud of the precision of their craft, these hours, as they wander around in SCAPE suits -- Self Contained Protection Ensemble.

SCAPEs are used during tense CDDT hours -- the moments of Count Down Demonstration Tests. These space mechanics are members of nine locals and their regional chief is Robert Duncan, chief representative for the Machinists District 166 at Cocoa Beach, Fla.

Some of these men, some of the experts of other unions, soon enough will be saying seriously: well, we're taking off for the moon. Someone will have to build the very same type of launching pads that were built in the days we called it Cape Canaveral.

Col. Aldrin may well be elected first president of the moon's first Central Labor Council. But whose jurisdiction will Mars be?

TALK AROUND TOWN

Question: Project Apollo 11, to be launched Wednesday, costs about 350 million dollars. Do you think space exploration is a good use of your tax money?

Richard Hargrove, roofer, Sikeston.

"I think the money could be used for better things. There are a lot of hungry people in the world and there isn't any food on the moon that I can see."

John L. Wilson, real estate, Sikeston.

"The space program is a good project because it promotes scientific advancement."

Mrs. Donna Walker, housewife, Matthews.

"I think Apollo is a waste of time and money. What are they going to do on the moon once they get there?"

J. F. Nunn, Lincoln University student, Coca-Cola Bottling Co. employee, Matthews.

"I think the money should go for education. People should stay on earth where God put them."

John Sides, Scott Co. probate judge.

"This shot is more for research than for practicality. The expense is justified because of the practical applications that may develop. 350 million in this year's budget is nothing, really."

H. H. Learue, Sikeston, SEMO Termite Control employee.

"I surely don't think the money should go for space exploration. It ought to go where it belongs – for schools.

Ann Landers

Prisoner Of Her Own Thoughts

Dear Ann Landers: I've made some mistakes in my life but as I look back over the past 34 years I see many tragedies over which I had no control. Both my parents were drowned when I was 16. My brother whom I adored was burned to death in a fire. A sister I envied and disliked died in a car accident. To this day I feel as if I murdered her because I was driving.

You may not be able to help me, Ann, but perhaps just expressing my feelings in writing will make me feel better. I am haunted by the fear that I will commit suicide. There are times when I hate living and want to die, but I know suicide is the coward's way out. More important, I have three wonderful children who needs a mother. Their father is away a great deal and I'm afraid he has no real interest in his family.

I am terrified that I will jump out of a window. Whenever I'm near a large open window I panic. I am so afraid of elevators, I'd rather walk up ten flights than go into one.

Can you give me a few sentences of hope? What can I do to get over these hellish feelings? ---- Gwendolyn

Dear Gwendolyn: I almost never recommend books but I'm going to make an exception because I've just read a book that could help save your life. It is called "The Prison Of My Mind", by Barbara Field Benziger. The publisher is Walker. If your bookstore doesn't have it, ask them to get it.

This book is a moving personal account of a courageous woman who conquered mental illness. Her honesty and openness will give encouragement and hope to every person who fears he is cracking up.

The best answer for one who is suicidal is a therapist in whom he has confidence. The author of "Prison of My Mind" emphasizes this point. While Mrs. Benziger credits therapy with saving her life she makes it abundantly clear that not all psychiatrists are humane, kind and competent.

Dear Ann Landers: When parents who are far from rich give a married son and daughter-in-law $3,000 to help them through a financial crisis, are they entitled to get it back? Or are the parents supposed to forget about it because they have more money than the kids?

Two years have passed since we gave them the money and not a word has been said about paying it back. Last night my husband brought up the subject when our son and his wife drove up in a new car. They called us mercenary, money-hungry and worse. There must be others with the same problem. Will you comment, please? -- The Money Bush

Dear Money: What was the understanding when you handed over the $3,000 Did you say, "This is a loan, not a gift?" If you didn't, you should have. A surefire combination for Big Trouble is relatives, money, and nothing on paper. Welcome to the club.

Give in or lose him . . . when a guy gives you this line, look out! For tips on how to handle the super sex salesman, check Ann Landers. Read her booklet, "Necking And Petting – What Are The Limits?" Send your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper, enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Lillian Hellman: Her Memoirs

AN UNFINISHED WOMAN. By Lillian Hellman. Little, Brown. $7.50.

Lillian Hellman explains the title of her memoir, "All I mean is that I left too much of me unfinished because I wasted too much time." That could sound patronizing to readers who probably have wasted even more time, but it doesn't. You know what she means, so you don't criticize her title. In fact it's hard to find a bad word to say about her book.

Lillian Hellman wrote "The Children's Hour," "The Little Foxes," "Another Part of the Forest" "Toys in the Attic," etc., but this book isn't about her plays. She has dipped into the storage cartons of personal memories and brought forth some of them for view.

There's a chapter about Ernest Hemingway and one about Dorothy Parker, as she knew them, and there are frequent references to writer Dashiell Hammett. There's a section about the war in Spain and reflections about returning from a war to familiar things and people.

Miss Hellman writes so well that disconnected and unexplained references somehow fit into an over-all organization. Her insights and phrases are sharp and often smile-provoking. "Her taste in men was, indeed, bad, even for writer ladies."

An unfinished woman maybe, but not so very unfinished, and fascinating to read about.

Gibson, Carlton Named As All-Star Pitchers

CINCINNATI (AP) — St. Louis Cardinal Manager Red Schoendienst will have plenty of pitchers when he tries for another National League victory in the annual major league AllStar Game on July 22—he nam

0nb5today to the squad.

The American League team will go with eight hurlers.

Schoendienst named six righthanders. They, and their records going into Monday night's games, will be: Larry Dierker, Houston, 12-6; Bob Gibson, St. Louis, 11-7; Juan Marichal, San Francisco, 11-3; Phil Niekro, Atlanta, 14-7; Tom Seaver, New York 14-3, and Bill Singer, Los Angeles, 12-7.

The three left-handers selected are Steve Carlton, St. Louis 11-5; Grant Jackson, Philadelphia, 9-8, and Jerry Koosman, New York, 7-5.

The nine hurlers have a combined won-and-lost record of 101-51.

Only Niekro, Dierker, Singer and Jackson are newcomers to an All-Star squad.

The senior member, of course, is Marichal, who was picked for the eighth time. He has pitched 16 innings in seven such games, allowed seven hits and one earned-run for a 0.56 ERA.

He was the winning pitcher in 1962 in the All-Star game played in Washington—also the scene of this year's contest. Last year he paced the league in victories with a 26-9 mark and also led in complete games with 30.

Gibson is next in All-Star seniority. This was the sixth time for him to be selected. In three pitching performances he has allowed only one earned run in six innings.

Seaver has been named to the squad every year since making good with the Mets three seasons ago. He pitched then 15th and final inning in the 1967 game when the Nationals won 2-1 in the longest game in AllStar history.

Carlton and Koosman are twotimers on the squad and both appeared briefly in the 1968 game. Carlton pitched one inning and Koosman a third of an inning as the Nationals won at Houston 1-0.

The nine pitchers join eight starters named by a vote of players, Schoendiest later will select other plays to round out a 28-man squad.

Bertrand, Parma Win

It was a night for scoring in Four-County Babe Ruth League action last night . . . that is for three of the four teams that were involved in play at Bell City and Parma last night.

Benton was denied a run and allowed only one hit by the hard throwing of Reggie Gregory of the Parma league leaders who posted a 17-0 win in four and one half innings.

Bertrand gained a 10-5 win over Bell City as Mike Morrow collected the win and Crosno two hits and Cilifro a home run. Bell City's Willis McQuire and Lee Rendlemen doubled in runs and had two hits each.

Parma capitalized on 14 walks and outstanding defensive plays in posting its win and holding the league lead.

Wendall Wagner homered, while Mike Garrard tripled and Dale Crews and Van Pawielski doubled for the big blows of the game. Parma had only eight hits, two each by Garrard and Pawielski.

League play resumes Thursday with Parma scheduled at Vanduser and Bell City at Bertrand.

Vanduser Beats Harts

VANDUSER — Sikeston Harts Bread of the city league were defeated 4-1 here last night by the local Babe Ruth team, who are members of the Four - County Babe Ruth league.

A pitching duel developed between David Pobst and Bill Lewis, with the former taking the win. Both allowed but three hits.

Vanduser pushed across three runs in the last of the sixth inning to break a 1-1 tie and held Hartsoff in the seventh for its 10th win against five defeats.

Dove Limits Down

JEFFERSON CITY — Missouri hunters will have a dove season this fall opening Sept. 1 and identical in length with that of last year, according to action by the Missouri Conservation Commission.

The season will run until Oct. 30. The federal Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife of the Department of Interior sets the framwork within which Missouri picks its 60-day season.

Other seasons on federally regulated birds established include a 70-day season on sora and Virginia rails from Sept. 1 to Nov. 9, a 50-day season on Wilson's snipe from Oct. 1 to Nov. 19 and a 65-day woodcock season from Oct. 1 to Dec. 4.

Regulations on gallinules, another shore bird, will be announced later when waterfowl regulations are established.

Bag limits on mourning doves will be 10 daily and 20 in possession, a drop of two from last year's 12 and 24 respectively. Woodcock limits are five daily and 10 in possession. Snipe limit daily is eight and possession limit is 16. The aggregate rail limit is 25 both in the daily bag and in possession.

In all cases, the shooting hours are from a half hour before sunrise to sunset daily.

Dexter C.M. To State

Dexter's high - flying Connie Mack baseball team fought its way to a berth in the Missouri state play-offs Saturday night, sneaking past Bloomfield, 7-6.

The Dexter nine, with Frank Hamra at the helm, held off a determined Bloomfield squad for a well-earned victory.

Dexter now travels to the state play-offs, held July 30, in Independence, Mo. Arrangements for the trip to near Kansas City are incomplete, but Hamra said this week, "We're going -- that's the main thing!"

Gary Blaylock put the icing on the cake Saturday, hitting a home run blast in the seventh with two out and two on. Mick Lynch also had a homer for the winners.

Morris Karnes was the winning hurler, while Baldwin took the loss.

MISSOURI QUAIL hunters are looking forward to another good season this fall. The season and bag limits will be set later in the summer. Rain in some areas may force quail to re-nest, but the birds will do so if early nests are destroyed. (Department of Conservation photo)

Quail Success Tops In 1968

JEFFERSON CITY – It doesn't make much difference where they go, Missouri quail hunters find good shooting. At least this was the picture in 1968 which ranks as one of the finest quail season in history.

Statistics compiled by game biologist Jack Stanford of the Missouri Department of Conservation show remarkably similar figures except in localities where game cover is gone or seriously depleted.

For example, in the Ozark plateau region, hunters flushed an average of four coveys on each hunt. But in the north and eastern Ozark border it was a close 3.8, in the northwest part of the state it was 3.6, in the western Ozark boarder it was 3.4, ranging down to a low of 2.9 in the Mississippi lowlands.

It took .9 hour to hunt up each covey in the northwest, north and eastern Ozark border and Ozark plateau, and scarcely longer (1.0 to 1.4 hours) over the other four areas of the state.

The average birds bagged per covey was almost the same everywhere -- from 2.9 in the Mississippi lowlands and the northwest of 2.2 in the north and east Ozark border.

Quail hunting success was up over 1967 in every region but the western Ozark border -- as much as 34 per cent better in the northeast part of the state.

Hunters averaged seven hunts in November, 7.4 in December and 5.5 in January. They did almost half their covey flushing and killing in November and they all hunted in November while only 79 per cent hunted in December and only 60 per cent braved the January chill.

Stanford's statistics are gathered into a newsletter which he sends to the many observers who help him gather the information -- the rural mail carriers and hunters and the Conservation Department field men whose observations are the base on which the statistics rest.

Dear Editor Blanton,

I was very interested in your article about Seventy-Six Mo. "The Ghost Town." You see, I once visited there for a week with the James H. Smith family. Their daughter, Dorothy, was once my best friend when her father was section foreman of the railroad at Charter Oak. Her brother, George walked the three miles up the railroad to attend high school in Canalou. When they left Charter Oak, they went to Seventy-Six, where Mr. Smith was still section foreman. Other children were Mary, Harvey and Herbert.

I remember a lot of strawberries in the area, and we all picked them for 3 cents per qt. I also remember a spring of very cold water near the depot, which was also near the Smith home.

I was told that the name came from th fact that the small place was the 76th landing on the river below St. Louis - or 76th landing up from New Orleans.

I have lost all trace of the family, but a mutual friend said Mr. Smith and his second wife now live at Neely just above Cape Girardeau. The first Mrs. Smith is deceased.

I just thought you might like to know that someone in this area actually knew a family who once lived there.

Sincerley,
Mrs. Elmer Gruen

Firemen Douse Three Fires

Three grass and trash fires Monday caused little damage.

At 2:20 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Malone, 1004 Allen Blvd., some shrubbery near the house caught fire from a trash can, causing some damage to a large evergreen tree.

The fire department was called at 5:15 p.m. Monday to 203 Adams, where a trash fire burned some spare lumber and fence posts in an alley.

A trash fire was kept under control on a lot of Charles Faucett, near the Dan McCoy Seed Company on Frisco Street Monday at 7:25 p.m. without any damage.

Moon Surface Telecast to Be Treat for Insomniacs

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — America will be a country of sleepy people on Monday, July 21, and television will get the blame.

Man's first step on the surface of the moon will be telecast to earth and retransmitted coast to coast for home viewers. The first television show from the moon with live actors will start at 2:12 a.m. on the East Coast and end at about 4:52 a.m., or perhaps later.

That 2 hours and 40 minutes of television probably will have the poorest technical quality of any of the almost five hours of space television planned for Apollo 11. And it also will be the only portion in black and white.

The telecast will begin just before Neil A. Armstrong steps from a ladder on the moon lander to the lunar surface.

As he comes down the ladder, he'll pull a ring which will open the work bench in one side of the moon lander. The television camera is attached to the work bench and will start telecasting immediately.

The camera will catch a view of Armstrong's first step onto the moon, but the astronaut cautioned that the picture probably won't be top quality.

Forty minutes after his first step on the moon, Armstrong will move the television camera from the side of the moon lander, put it on a tripod and set it up about 30 feet away. The field of view will catch all of the activities of Armstrong and Air Force Col. Edwin E. Aldrin Jr.

These will include a view of Armstrong as he plants the American flag on the moon's surface.

Pictures from the camera on the moon are beamed to the National Radio Astronomy Observatory at Parkes, Australia. The signal then goes by microwave to Sydney, Australia.

From there, they are beamed to the Intelsat III satellite in space over the Pacific Ocean. The space center here receives the signals, processes them and releases them to home viewers.

Another Apollo television camera is on the command module, the mother ship which stays in a 69-mile orbit of the moon. This camera, the same type carried on Apollo 10, transmits in color and will be used for all of the Apollo 11 television except the moon surface portion.

The lunar surface television camera will be abandoned on the moon's surface and will be turned off before the launch from the moon. Officials said the television transmission is impossible during critical periods because of the large amount of critical data that must be transmitted during those periods.

Here is a tentative television schedule, with all times in Eastern Daylight Time:

July 17, 7:32-7:47 p.m., translunar coast, about 150,000 miles from earth.

July 18, 7:32-7:47 p.m., translunar coast, nearing the moon.

July 19, 4:02-4:17 p.m., surface views of the moon from lunar orbit.

July 20, 1:52-2:22 p.m., command module and lunar module flying cose to each other after separation.

July 21: 1:57-2:07 a.m., landing site tracking from command module.

July 21, 2:12-4:52 a.m., moon surface activities. This is the only telecast in black and white.

July 22, 9:02-9:17 p.m., transearth coast.

July 23, 7:02-7:17 p.m., transearth coast.

Sikeston Woman Remembers Seventy-Six

By CAROL WERNECK

Seventy-Six--"it must have been a momentary stop on the Mississippi for at least some boats, and for a long-gone people it must hve been a home," the Daily Standard said about the town of Seventy-Six in the Tuesday, July 8 edition.

Mrs. Eva Sadler Hensley and Mrs. Viola Sadler Stovall disagree.

The now ghost-town was a home for these women, but they are certainly not long-gone.

After Mrs. Hensley, 310 Missouri Ave., read the Associated Press story in the Daily Standard last week, she wrote to the Standard to say she had once lived in Seventy-Six.

In the letter, she told several facts about Seventy-Six (see the Mail Box), including how the town received its name. "I always was told by older people that the man that landed the first boat was on his 76th birthday," Mrs. Hensley wrote.

Then, she and her sister, Mrs. Viola Sadler Stovall, once resident of Sikeston, now living in Marietta, Georgia, consented to an interview. Mrs.Stovall is visiting in Sikeston.

The Sadler sisters remember Seventy-Six when it was full of life.

In the story printed by the Standard last week, the question was posed, "The Hatch store -- whatever happened to Hatch?

The Sadler sisters know what happened to Hatch. He died in the early twenties.

George Hatch owned the whole town of Seventy-Six, Mrs. Hensley said.

"He lived in a big house up on the hill, and we always thought his house was so unique," Mrs. Stovall said. It was a two- story house, with a porch upstairs and a porch downstairs. There were grapevines that twined up and all around the porches.

Hatch had two daughters, Harriet and Genevieve.

"Every Fourth of July, Mr. Hatch gave a big picnic," Mrs. Hensley said. He served strawberry sodas, cream sodas and ice cream.

Seventy-Six was a small town, but it served a fairly large area of other small towns.

About the "some boats" that must have momentary stops, as the previous Seventy-Six story read, the Sadlers remember several more-than - momentary stops.

Seventy-Six residents were in the gain and orchard businesses.

W. L. Pulliam was foreman and overseer of the peach and apple orchards.

A Frisco train ran through Seventy-Six, and carried fruit and grain down to Caruthersville and Sikeston. Boats carried the goods up north.

There was also a stockyard in Seventy-Six. Boats landed at Wilkison landing to get livestock, grain or fruit.

The former residents remember a lighthouse on Wilkison landing where they loved to play.

"We could go up to the top of the lighthouse and see everything for miles around," Mrs. Stovall recalled.

Mrs. Stovall has memories about the Union School which is now covered with creeping vines. She graduated from the eighth grade at the Union School after attending school there for seven years.

"We went to Perryville to get our diplomas -- in a fringed- top surry," Mrs. Stovall said.

All eight grades were taught in one room. One of the teachers at the Union School, Blanch Swan, died in Wyatt, just a few years ago.

Other teachers the Sadlers remember are Bessie Jones, Maude Pickens and Thomas Hemming.

Mrs. Stovall remembers the 40 to 50 students in the school all carried lunch to school in a bucket because there weren't any paper sacks.

Lunches back then didn't consist of bologna sandwiches. Mrs. Hensley said "we got up in the morning and cooked potatoes to pack in our lunch." Everybody canned then, so we ate jelly and bread too.

Seventy-Six was a big attraction in its area, because it was the only town in the area with a post-office. Citizens from neighboring towns such as Frohna, Menfro, Algenburg, Brazeau and Wittenburg used the Seventy-Six post office.

The post-office was located in the General Store, along with the grocery store, the shoe store, yardgoods store, grain store and store for just about anything else.

Mrs. Hensely remembers when her mother bought some beige cream-colored voile to make dresses for the two girls. "She bought the material for three cents a yard at the General Store," she said.

The shoes sold at the General Store were brand named, "Stronger Than Law," Mrs. Stovall recalls.

But, law was something Seventy-Six didn't have. There was no police force and no sheriff. "We didn't have a saloon either," Mrs. Hensley remembers.

Other than the General Store, Hatch's Grain Co. and the Union School, Seventy-Six contained a hotel, a water tower, a depot, a section house and six or seven houses.

"Every family in those six or seven houses was self-supporting," the sisters said.

The hotel contained a dining room, kitchen, living room and about five bedrooms.

The section foreman lived at the section house, and the railroad hand cars were kept there.

Two passenger trains stopped at the depot every day. One came through at 11:30 a.m., and the other came at 4 p.m. Seventy- Six received mail daily from the north and the south because of this Frisco train.

Residents of Seventy- Six obtained from several cold-water springs in the own. "The people who lived up on the hill got their water through a cistern," Mrs. Hensley said.

The Sadlers first moved to Seventy- Six in 1907 when Mrs. Hensley was eight and Mrs. Stovall was five. The family moved back to Seventy-Six in 1911.

Mrs. Hensley moved from Seventy-Six in 1915, at the age of 17, and Mrs. Stovall left in 1918.

The Sadlers sisters said Seventy-Six was still full of people when they left.

Mr. Blanton

In reading your Tuesday July 8 addition.

About 76 Mo. being a ghosttown I spent 10 or more years of my childhood days livening at 76 going to school at which the story says you can't get too it. There was at one time maybe 45 or 50 children went to that school the name of the school was Union School.

My father was sent there by the Missouri Synod of Lutherans Church to be the pastor of Shilo Church which was about 4 miles out in those hills my father work for Mr. S. S. Hatch, he own several hundreds acres of that land he put in apple and peach orchids and father put out patches of strawberries which give the women and children spring work.

Mr. Hatch had a grocery store and dry goods shoes there was at one time a hotel behind the store a depot the depot agent was Alfred Dean.

Also there use to be an apple house which the apples were stored in. The farmers from out in the hilis brought their stock and the boat would land and pick them up to take to market in St. Louis there also was a Blacksmith Shop was run by Doc Crowder. Mr. Hatch had several houses that he would rent for a small amount of money a month. My father would ship the berries by train to St. Louis and there was section work on the railroad for some to work of course we knew nothing about electric or water works, got our water from springs coming out of a hill side. There were colored people work with my father they own their own little farms, if any of these colored people needed a minister they would call on father to perform their wedding ceremony, would preach their funerals, so he was a Shepard over all and minister to all.

As to the name and where the name came from of Seventysix Mo. I always was told by older people that the man that landed the first boat was on his 76th birthday. There is so much more I could say about the little town that is called Seventysix Mo., the Ghost town of too day.

Stoddard Assessment Accepted

DEXTER - The assessed valuation of Stoddard County now stands at $55,440,765, according to information received by Marvin Capps, county clerk, Friday.

This new figure, based on the current setting of valuations, is $5 million higher than the figure for the previous year, and has been "accepted" by the Missouri State Tax Commission.

The assessments were the source of a controversy earlier this year, mainly because the county's schools were losing secondary level school money from the state. The assessments must stand at 30 per cent of true value figure for schools to gain secondary funds.

A "ratio" is figued between the assessments and sale price and the school granted state money accordingly. The current Stoddard County ratio is 18.23, resulting is loss of money.

The Missouri State Tax Commission, through its chairman Hunter Phillips, told the Stoddard County court that the commission would settle for a voluntary $5 million increase in assessments, made voluntarily by the township assessors.

That increase has been made and the Commission has accepted the assessment figure.

The assessed valuation for farm land in Stoddard Countyis now $26,756,635.

Assessed valuation for town lots stands at $9,105,820.

The combined real estate assessments stand at $35,862,455.

Personal property assessments in Stoddard County are now $6,412,262.

The total real and personal assessments in Stoddard County are now $42,274,717.

The railroad and utilities assessments, which are not figured by township assessors, but by the state, add up to $13,166,048. The breakdown: St. Louis - Southwestern Railroad, $2,134,433; Missouri Pacific, $943,143; Missouri Utilities, $1,112,448; gas, $1,364,159; Texas Eastern, $1,120,726; Western Union, $54,643; Southwestern Bell, $6,036,307; United Telephone, $113,209; and Frisco Railroad, $286,980;

Supt. T. S. Hill, Dexter, stated Monday that while the assessment increase "won't affect us this year, there will definitely be an effect for the 1970-71 school year." A detailed report will be forthcoming.

The automobile race at the Indianapolis Speedway boasts the largest paid attendance of any annual sporting event in the United States. It averages 165,000.

VEGETABLES AS A CASH CROP in Southeast Missouri seemed more of a possibility and less a dream, based on experimental plots viewed last week in a vegatable tour at the University Center near Portageville. Among the more than 50 present were from right, Ted Hull, vegetable consultant for Bootheel Economic Development Council; Jack Pierce, department of community affairs; J. O. Martin, FHA rural development specialist, and B. W. Harrison, district director, division of extension.

Area Vegetable Growing Given Boost By Council

The future of vegetable growing in Southeast Missouri appears so promising that it has become the number one priority project of the Bootheel EconomicDevelopment Council.

That was the point expressed by J. B. Martin, director of B.E.D.C., just prior to a vegetable tour Wednesday, July 9, at the University Delta Center near Portageville and two other plots near Charleston.

B.E.D.C. was chartered May 15, 1968 by the state to coordinate an areawide economic development program in a six- county section of Southeast Missouri.

A serious study of the future of vegetable growing in the area began in October 1968. A vegetable industry committee was established, the members of which are: Chairman, Wendell Choate of Charleston: members, Henry DiCarlo, area horticulture agent; Dr. Victor Lambeth, professor of horticulture, University of Missouri; B. W. Harrison, district director, Division of Extension; and J. B. Martin. The committee, through the Missouri Department of Community Affairs, hired George T. Hull, Jr. as vegetable consultant. Mr. Hull has had ten years experience in vegetable production and marketing. After contacting fifteen (15) vegetable processing companies regarding the potential of the Bootheel for produce crops, he has supervised the test plot growing of various types and kinds of vegetables recommended by these companies. The test plots are located at the Delta Research Center and Bertrand, Missouri.

Another study, that of determining the feasibility of growing sugar beets in the area, has been in progress for seven years.

The test plots have produced a variety of results, some of which are most encouraging.

Don Akerson, an agronomist of the Del Monte corporation, said at the tour that he is favorably impressed with what has been done on the test plots. He cautioned that there are many problems to be overcome to converting sizeable amounts of acreage, but he felt that they are not insurmountable.

Judging from the results of this year's experiments in the area, he said that pickles, tomatoes, and carrots seem well adapted to the climate, soil and other factors and should be suitable for processing. He pointed out that test results indicate that tomatoes in this area have a better potential than in Deep South areas already in production.

On the plus side, Akerson said that Southeast Missouri soils are good and that the great water potential is especially promising. These are prime factors considered by prospective processors and fresh markets, he added.

The acceptance of mechanical harvesting by local farm operatiohns also is a positive factor, he said, because processors study new areas from a mechanical rather than a manual standpoint.

Over production rcently in some phases of fresh vegetable marketing is a factor that presently does not work in favor of locating fresh markets or processing plants in the area, but he said that such conditions have a way of sometimes changing very rapidly.

B. W. Harrison noted that the present study in vegetable growing involves the time and energy of many people and organizations.

Among them arythe Office of Community Affairs, B.E.D.C., the University of Missouri, research and extension people, MAMOS, local producers, farm chemical and farm machinery people and interested processors. He said that the successful diversion to vegetable growing would have far- reaching effects on the economy and the lives of people in this area.

Martin noted that excellent soil and favorable growing conditions are natural assets of Southeast Missouri and that it necessarily follows that agriculture will always play an important role in the area.

"With these assets and the many millions of dollars already invested in agriculture, it seems logical that the number one priority for B.E.D.C. should be to successfully introduce vegetable production, marketing, and processing to the six- county area we serve. The growing and testing program will require three to five years to establish a program of production that will satisfy the processing companies.

Gideons Decisions To National Battle of Bands

GIDEON — The Decisions a well- known local band is progressing rapidly. After winning the local battle of the bands contest at Dexter, Mo., they were chosen to represent Missouri at the National Battle of Bands contest in Raliegh, North Carolina. The group will leave on their trip Wednesday, July 9, and return on Sunday, July 13. Accompanying the group will be Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Brawner, Gideon; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Mullen, Clarkton, and Dr. and Mrs. Larry Webster, Malden. Dr. Webster is the manager of the band;

The group will fly to Raliegh on an Eastern Airline jet, the boys will stay at the Raliegh Youth Center, and the girls will be staying at the Straten - Hilton Hotel. Everyone is wishing them good luck and is sure they will return with great honors.

Astrokids Interested in Apollo

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Asked once about his father's profession, the young son of an Apollo astronaut replied that "daddy drives a truck in a sewer."

Another astrokid announced that her father was "up there in the sky flying around in a big, pink balloon."

With disarming disinterest, the astronauts' children somehow usually remain happily oblivious to the whole space flight business.

But this is not the case with most of the children of the moon-bound Apollo 11 astronauts.

Moonship pilot Edwin Aldrin Jr. says his sons, Michael 13, and Andrew, 11, and daughter, Janice, 12 next month, "all of a sudden realize their father is involved in this endeavor of national importance."

He added, however: "I don't have a tremendous amount of opportunity to sit down and discuss things with the children. We find that just to be able to locate them is an event around the house.

"They're extremely independent. We do try to have family get-togethers whenever we can."

Neil Armstrong, the Apollo 11 commander, says sons Eric, 12, and Mark, 6, "are very enthusiastic" about the moon flight, which begins Wednesday at Cape Kennedy, Fla.

"I think they feel as I do that we have a good chance of achieving the goal and they look forward to us completing it. And they're all very interested ... They want to know the details of what we're going to do and how we're going to do it."

Mrs. Armstrong says her older son "has always had an avid interest in space, even before his father was chosen as astronaut. When we lived on the West Coast he would get up willingly at 3 or 4 a.m. on launch mornings to watch the preparations on television with his father."

Command pilot Michael Collins says his three children—Kathleen, 10, Ann, 7 and Michael, 6—"are really too young to appreciate the implications of this flight."

He said he attempted to explain to Michael the "historic import" of the Apollo 8 flight which took three American astronauts around the moon for the first time.

"And he said: 'who's driving?' That's all he wanted to know. You know, the fact that there were, for the first time, human beings around the moon, and all that ... well, that's way over his head.

"So they think going up in space is sort of nice, but you know what else is new?"

Networks Go To Historic Lengths for Appollo Flight

NEW YORK (AP)—From countdown to splashdown, television's cameras will accompany the Apollo 11 astronauts to the surface of the moon and back.

Coverage plans of the historic flight are reaching historic proportions. During the critical phases of the moon landing the three networks will be on the air continuously for at least 30 hours.

Two hour-long previews of the flight will be offered tonight. NBC's special is at 7:30-8:30 p.m. and CBS's at 10-11 p.m. All times are Eastern Daylight.

Coverage of the liftoff, set for 9:32 a.m. Wednesday, begins in the early morning. NBC signs on at 6 a.m. with a special edition of the "Today" show. ABC begins at 7 and CBS at 8 a.m.

Regular progress reports will be aired throughout the flight by the television and radio networks.

The Apollo is to send back the first of at least seven live transmissions for 15 minutes at 7:32 p.m. Thursday. All of the transmissions will be in color except for those from the lunar module on the moon.

On Sunday, as the lunar module Eagle prepares to separate from the command module Columbia the networks will begin approximately 30 hours of continuous coverage. ABC comes on at 12 noon for 30 hours of coverage and CBS and NBC at 11 a.m. for 31 hours.

The extended coverage, which ends at 6 p.m. Monday, will take the mission through the descent of the Eagle, the landing, the walk on the moon, liftoff from the lunar surface and docking with the Columbia.

The lunar module is scheduled to touch down on the moon at 4:23 p.m. Sunday, but Astronaut Neil A. Armstrong will not leave the craft and set foot on the moon until 2:12 a.m. the next morning.

He is to be joined by astronaut Edwin E. "Buzz" Aldrin Jr. for a 2-hour and 40-minute exploration of the area around the capsule. Astronaut Michael Collins will remain aboard the orbiting Columbia.

When Armstrong steps out of the module, an automatic black and white television camera in the descent stage will be activated to transmit pictures of the first footstep on the moon.

A special Trendex survey commissioned by ABC estimates that nearly 50 per cent of the U.S. viewers will stay up for the moon walk. In other parts of the world it will be daylight and hundreds of millions of people in Europe, Africa and Asia are expected to witness the event by satellite television.

Armstrong is scheduled to take the camera out of the descent stage and set it on a tripod 25 feet from the lunar module for a constant view of the astronauts working on the moon.

Obviously, during the period of extended coverage Sunday and Monday there will be long hours between activities. So the networks are lining up all kinds of attractions, from scientific reproductions of the moon's surface to science fiction to moonlight and romance.

Here is a sample of some of the plans:

On CBS, former President Lyndon B. Johnson will discuss his role in the space program, and Orson Welles will discuss the relevance of science fiction.

Duke Ellington is composing a piece of original music on the moon landing for ABC. The network also is setting up a special telephone system so that viewers around the nation can question newsmen about the moon mission. The most pertinent queries will be answered on the air.

NBC will try again to show the Apollo in flight, through the 16-inch telescope at the Fernbank Science Center in DeKalb County, Ga. Van Heflin, James Earl Jones and Julie Harris will read from the letters and journals of famous explorers. Danny Kaye, in his first television appearance in three years, will co-host a portion of the coverage.

Cigarette Price Hike Causes Much Confusion

By E. J. MAYS

Confusion reigned supreme in many quarters Monday afternoon as cigarette smokers and dealers alike attempted to recognize a new Missouri state tax law that raises the price of cigarettes fifty cents per carton, effective today.

The confusion occurred as buyers were faced with a variety of prices on last minute purchases of cartons of smokes, some stores having already added the fifty cent tax -- plus an additional one cent a package manufacturer's cost advance, just as the afternoon shopping reached its heighth.

Major brands of cigarettes were in short supply by 6 p.m.

Some of the confusion was explained but, for the greater portion of would be purchasers it was a veritable "pricing rat race.."

Officials at the Wal-Mart Discount store explained the reason from some of the confusion as customers asked:

"Why have cigarettes gone up to $3.13 and $3.24 a carton today? The tax takes effect tomorrow."

The officials said that "a member of the Missouri Tax Department arrived at Wal-Mart in mid-afternoon and began checking their cigarette inventory. We would have had to pay the additional fifty cent per carton tax, as soon as he finished checking so we just went ahead and made the price advance," they said.

Jobbers would only say "we have raised our prices 51 cents a carton.

On the other hand some super- marts, like Big Star, who say they will add sixty cents a carton -- including a 10 cent manufacturer's increase -- to their cigarette products today, waited and announced a three way price scale of $3.09 for the regular (short) package carton, originally $2.49; $3.19 for the King size cartons, originally $2.59 and $3.29 for the super long cartons. Package prices advanced six cents over the counter to 36 cents and most machines went up to .35 and 40 cents.

In a few cases stores added the manufacturer's increase yesterday and the additional state tax today.

Kentucky areas, where cigarettes sell for $2.47 and $2.58 a carton, or 25 cents a package, are expected to do a land office business in the future from Missourians who work at various plants, just over the line. One Missouri state tax employee said "we haven't received any instructions yet as to checking incoming workers. We may permit their possession of one carton -- for their own use -- and confiscate any additional cigarettes.

Trail of Tears Swimming Pond May Not Reopen

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo. (AP) — A swimming pond in Trail of Tears State Park near Cape Girardeau probably will never reopen again, a Missouri Parks Department official says.

Matt Matheny, associated director of state parks, had announced Friday that the pond was closed indefinitely because tests showed there was bacteria "too numerous to count" in the water.

Matheny said further tests would be made, but added, "I don't think it will ever reopen to swimming. It will be closed indefinitely. There's no way to control pollution in a lake such as this." He said this was because of its small size and stagnant nature.

The Southeast Missourian had made public the polluted condition of the pond in articles which preceded the closing of the pond.

Peak River Crest Yet To Come

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The river city of St. Louis rode out a nuisance flood on the Mississippi Sunday, but authorities warned the worst was yet to come downstream.

The Army Corps of Engineers said the river crested at 35.8 feet, causing only flooding in low lying industrial areas. The crest was 5.8 feet above flood stage.

A spokesman said the river would reach substantial "but not record" levels downstream later in he week. Cape Girardeau, Mo. reported a river stage of 38.3 feet Sunday with an expected crest of 39 feet forecast for Wednesday. Cairo, Ill., reported 37.8 feet Sunday with a crest of 39.5 feet expected Friday.

The spokesman, John Gurley, chief of corps operations in St. Louis, said the rising water would continue to inundate farm land on both sides of the river below St. Louis. Heav crop damage was reported in the vicinity of Ste. Genevieve and federal officials estimated flood waters might cost Missouri farmers $114 million in ruined crops.

The rising waters also submerged tracks of the Frisco railroad between Wittenburg, Mo., and Cape Girardeau.

Above St. Louis flood waters receeded slowly from Hannibal south to St. Louis. Gurley said the weekend crest at dam 24, Louisiana, Mo., equalled the record 22.2-foot mark set in 1947. He blamed the high waters in the Louisiana area on runoff into the Mississippi from the Salt River, a tributary draining north eastern Missouri.

Volunteer crews toiled in 95-degree heat Sunday to bolster agricultural levees in the West Alton, Mo., area. At nearby Quincy, Ill., one quarter of the city was reported still under water.

Guard Plans to Weed out Weak Senior Officers

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Army National Guard, sometimes criticized for spotty leadership, is setting up machinery to weed out weak senior officers.

Starting next year, it was learned, three-man selection boards will meet in every state to review annually the records of officers with 20 years or more of service.

The boards, to include regular Army as well as Guard officers, will decide who stays and who should be dropped.

National Guard bureau officials said this means about 4,000 to 5,000 lieutenant colonels and colonels will be scrutinized each year. Veteran warrant officers also will be subject to annual review.

But guard generals are exempt from what is called "selective retention."

Officials said officers below the rank of lieutenant colonel already are subject to periodic consideration concerning possible promotion, but until now lieutenant colonels and colonels have not had to undergo this sort of review.

Creation of the board is the latest action taken in recent years to strengthen the Army Guard officer corps.

Guard leadership came under heavy fire two years ago as a result of the performance of some Guard units during civil disturbances in Detroit and elsewhere.

Oldest white settlement in North America, north of Florida, is Annapolis Royal, Nova Scotia, founded by the French in 1605.

Pat Wood Named to Dean's List

CANTON - Patricia Wood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wood, 154 Jefferson St., Sikeston, has been honored for academic excellence in spring semester work at Culver-Stockton College by being named to the Dean's List.

Miss Wood, a 1969 graduate of Culver-Stockton, majored in social science at the college after graduation in 1965 from Sikeston Senior High School. At Culver-Stockton she was active in drama and was a member of the newspaper and annual staffs.

To qualify for the Dean's List students must attain a 3.50 grade point average of a 4.00 scale.

Cape Schools Set Dress Regulations

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo., (AP) - The Cape Girardeau Board of Education has decreed that boys must not wear their hair over their eyebrows and ears and girls' skirts must go no higher than three inches above the knee.

Wade Callicutt, acting director of secondary education, said the appearance code was recommended by teachers, parents and students.

The regulations will be in force this fall.

Judge Pleas Not Guilty

DEXTER - Jack Ward, Associate Judge of the Stoddard County Court, entered a plea of not guilty Thursday to charges of allowing an unlicensed driver to operate a motor vehicle owned by him.

The hearing, in Magistrate Court, was passed over until Aug. 7.

Judge Ward was represented by James F. Spain, Bloomfield attorney and state representative for Stoddard County.

The charges grew from the arrest of Larry Ward, 15, son of the judge. He was arrested by a Highway Patrolman while operating a motorcycle in Bloomfield.

Bad Month For Doctor

DEXTER - So far, this has been a bad month for Dr. Harold A. Poe.

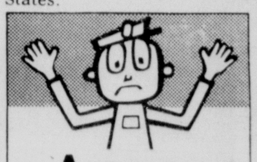

First, a person or persons still unknown entered his clinic last weekend, and, among other things, took some $3,000 from the office safe.

Then, early Friday, a person or persons unknown stole his 1968 black over green Cadillac from his garage.

The Highway Patrol reported that the theft occurred sometime after midnight. The keys were reported left in the car.

The Cadillac has not been recovered.

Zinnias have many faces. Just as human faces do, they differ in form, size and color. Left to right on the top row are blooms of a tiny, pumila zinnia, 2nd and 4th are multifloras, 3rd is low-growing, ground-hugging Zinnia linearis. Center row, left to right, are flowers of multiflora, Mexican, Lilliput. Cut and Come Again. Bottom row includes Fantasy or cactus type, dahlia flowered, and a huge, tetraploid zinnia named State Fair for its many prizes.

The range in heights and flower sizes of zinnias is from 3 feet to 8 inches high and from 6 inches to 2 inches across a bloom.

As a result of this wide range, the gardener can look over his planting plan, decide on the size zinnia he wants, select a flower color compatible with nearby plants and find a variety to fulfill his requirements.

Zinnia faces to greet you from your summer garden include the species, linearis, which is an excellent ground cover since the plants grow only 8 inches high.

It also fills window boxes with distinction and can be used to edge the front of taller plantings. The bi-colored, yellow and orange flowers liberally stud the plants.

Up the height scale a bit, growing to a foot high, are the Haageana type, more commonly called Mexican zinnias. The well-known Persian Carpet and Old Mexico are typical. Blooms on each plant of Persian Carpet differ in coloring but all are variations on a red and gold theme.

Old Mexico plants may be 16 inches tall; have 2½ inch wide flowers, variegated red and yellow.

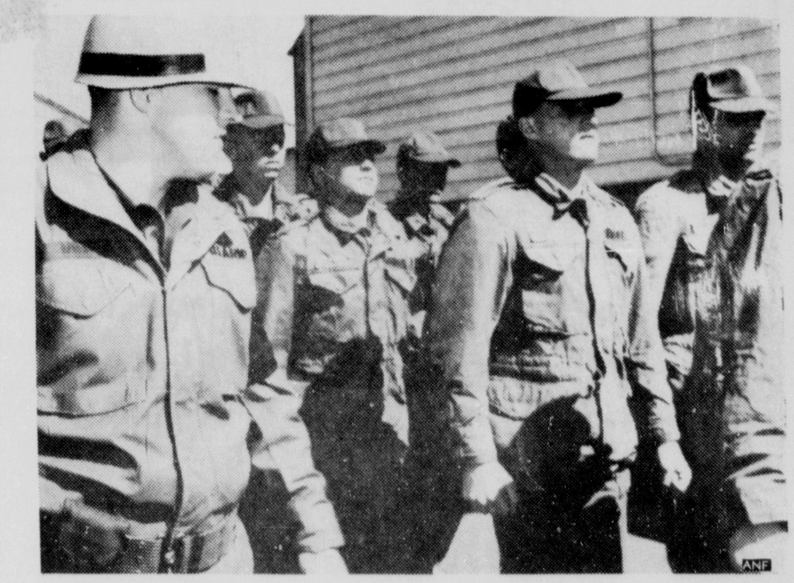

Lilliput zinnias form bushy plants to a foot and a half high bearing double, pompon-shaped blossoms in many colors. Seeds of separate or of mixed colors are available.

Two feet high are the Cut and Come Again (or Elegans pumila) zinnias, placing them between the giants and the lilliputs in height. The dome-shaped flowers are 2½ inches across.

Fantasy, with shaggy but graceful 3 inch blooms on 2½ foot plants is of the cactus type, with quilled petals. The dahlia flowered zinnias boast 4 to 5 inch, double flowers on robust 2½ foot plants.

Topping them all are the tetraploid varieties with double the usual numbers of chromosomes. These stand a yard high and boast 6 inch wide blooms on disease resistant plants.

State Fair is an example of a tetraploid variety. Instead of separate colors, seeds come for color groups, as lavender and purple, or with all colors mixed.

If You Were the Judge

Developer Held Liable For Poor Heating System

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Charley's attitude was be there ever so many payments, there's no place like a home. Consequently, he went out and bought a brand new one hot off Max's development line.

Before long, however, Charley discovered that his house was anyting but hot. While the twisting pipes of the radiant heating system presented a real cool design, they offered no heat whatsoever. In fact, the system just didn't work.

Hastening to court, Charley sued developer Max for selling him a house with a bum heating plant.

"I saw a blonde the other day," he told the judge, "that created more heat than the pipes in my house."

"Once a builder sells a house," was Max's answer, "he's no longer responsible for it. Like the old saying: Let the buyer beware. Therefore, if the heating system is faulty, it's not my problem.

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you hold Max liable for selling Charley a house with a defective heating system?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that ancient principals of law that make no sense in today's society should be discredited. When a person buys a home, it cannot be disputed that he relies upon the skill of the developer in providing it with a heating system that is reasonably fit for its intended purpose. And if it isn't, the developer should be held accountable. (Based upon a 1968 California Court of Appeals Decision)

A splendid rain fell in this city Tuesday forenoon that was needed on gardens, flower beds and lawns. It likewise ruined a lot of nubbins in the cornfields as much growing corn is in the tassel. Everything looks bully, but all had better wait until after the crops are gathered before spending the money.

ACT NOW—YOUR ENROLLMENT FORM MUST BE MAILED BY MIDNIGHT SAT., JULY 19, OR IT CANNOT BE ACCEPTED

ONE out of two families will have someone in the hospital this year! It could be you—or some beloved member of your family tomorrow... next week... next month. Sad to say, very few families have anywhere near enough coverage to meet today's soaring hospital costs. These costs have more than doubled in just a few short years. They are expected to double again in the few years ahead.

Stop for a moment. Think how much a long stay in the hospital will cost you or a loved one. How would you ever pay for costly, but necessary, X-rays, doctor bills, drugs and medicines? What would you do with your pay check stopped, but living expenses kept going on the same as ever? The same rent, phone, food, all the day-to-day expenses that never stop.

What is the average breadwinner to do? We believe we have the answer in the famous Presidential EXTRA CASH Plan that Pays you $100.00 a week tax-free cash when you go to the hospital.

What a blessing it is when you know you have an extra $100.00 cash coming in every week – beginning the very first day you enter the hospital.

Now, Presidential's economy plan enables you to enjoy this protection at once. Because it will NOT cost you $20.00. It will NOT cost you $10.00 – or even $5.00. Your special low price is just 25¢ for the first month's coverage for your entire family. Then continue at low Presidential rates.

Your cash benefits increase each year — at no extra cost to you!

And what peace of mind not to worry about rising costs. Your protection automatically increases $3.00 a week each year for 10 years. The first year you get $100.00 a week. You get $103.00 a week in the second year, $106.00 a week in the third year. $109.00 a week in the fourth year. By the eleventh year, your Policy will be worth a full $130.00 a week in benefit payments... at no increase in cost to you! This generous cash reserve protection will belong to you for as long as you keep the Policy. You can see that your insurance will be worth much more than the present "face value" of the Policy. Certainly, our increased payments to you will help keep pace with risings costs and—best of all...

The increasing benefits come to you at no extra cost. You still pay the regular low Presidential premium!

What other Plan protects you like this today? What other Plan keeps protecting you against rising living costs in the years ahead without increasing your premiums? And that's not all. This special Presidential EXTRA CASH Plan (HP 18L-1067)...

PAYS	Up to $10,000.00 CASH for each accident or illness, starting the very first day in the hospital.
PAYS	Up to $7,000.00 CASH at the rate of $70.00 A WEEK if you are 65 or over... in addition to Medicare.
PAYS	$100.00-A-WEEK CASH — if you need a full-time Registered Nurse when you come home from the hospital — up to 50 weeks.
PAYS	$1,000.00 EXTRA CASH for accidental death.
PAYS	Up to $2,000.00 CASH for accidental loss of limbs or eyesight.
PAYS	$100.00-A-WEEK CASH for each pregnancy, when you go to the hospital, assuming both husband and wife have been enrolled in the Family Plan With Maternity.
PAYS	Up to $5,000.00 at the rate of $50.00 A WEEK when a child goes to the hospital for any accident or illness when you are enrolled in the Family Plan.
PAYS	all cash direct to you (not to doctor or hospital).

65 OR OVER? COLLECT IN ADDITION TO MEDICARE

We have designed this plan as the important addition to what you receive from Medicare – or any other health insurance you may have. Remember, all checks will be sent directly to you (not to the doctor or hospital) to give you that "extra" help just when you need it most. Use the tax-free cash any way you see fit. And you will be glad to know the checks will be big ones! In addition to what you receive from Medicare, Presidential pays you $70.00 a week... EVEN FOR 100 WEEKS if necessary! You can receive as much as $7,000.00 for each illness or injury when hospitalized!

Pays you $100.00-a-week CASH for a Registered Nurse at Home.

Yes, in addition to the $100.00 weekly checks we send you during your hospital stay, we pay you an extra $100.00 a week if the doctor has you engage a full-time Registered Nurse to take care of you at home.

How comforting it is to know that—after your stay in the hospital, if you've been there three days or more, you can return home to recuperate and yet not be a burden to your loved ones. Yes, if your doctor has you engage a Registered Nurse full time within 5 days after you come home, we'll send you checks for $100.00 a week—for as long as you need the nurse—even up to 50 weeks. It's like having a reserve of $5,000.00 cash to draw on when you need it. These benefits also increase each year by $3.00 a week. Another exceptional feature you have with Presidential...

Pays you $100.00-a-week cash maternity benefits.

Ordinary hospital insurance may take care of part of your expenses when you go to the hospital to have a baby. But what policy can you think of that gives you cash to help buy all the things you need for the new baby? Now, if both husband and wife are insured in the wonderful Family Plan With Maternity for the entire period of the pregnancy, you get extra cash to use any way you want. If a pregnancy, childbirth or miscarriage puts you in the hospital for one day, five days, 10 days—as long as necessary—you get $100.00 a week for every day of your confinement, up to 100 weeks.

All these added cash benefits.

Added cash benefits: $1,000.00 cash to your family, if death occurs within 90 days from any accidental injury. Think of how handy the cash can be in time of loss. It can take care of burial expenses without burdening your loved ones.

Added cash benefit: Up to $2,000.00 cash for accidental loss of limbs or eyesight, when the loss occurs anytime within 90 days of the accident. The loss of a limb or eyesight is a terrible thing. Nothing can replace the loss, but a check for $1,000.00 or $2,000.00 brings peace of mind during the period of adjustment.

Added cash benefit: Choose either Family Plan... and your children will be covered, too! Presidential pays up to $5,000.00 any time your youngster goes to the hospital... for removal of tonsils, appendix or any other illness or injury! Yes, you will receive $50.00 cash, week after week – for as many as 100 weeks, if necessary.

We pay your premiums when you are not able.

As a special consideration to you—if you, your spouse or other adult dependents are hospitalized just 6 weeks or more, all premiums that come due, for the person confined, while still in the hospital after this period will be paid by Presidential. And your protection continues as if you were paying the premiums yourself! Then if you leave the hospital and must return for the same condition before you have resumed full normal activities for 90 days, Presidential will again PAY ANY PREMIUMS WHILE YOU ARE IN THE HOSPITAL—TO A MAXIMUM OF 100 WEEKS per confinement! Your full protection remains in force – you collect up to $10,000.00 for each confinement!

These are the ONLY exclusions!

Your Presidential Policy pays during hospital confinement for every conceivable kind of sickness or accident except conditions caused by: war or any act of war; mental disorders; intoxicants and narcotics; pregnancy except as provided under the maternity benefit provision; where care is in a U.S. Government hospital; and expenses resulting from any sickness or injury you had before the Effective Date of your Policy... during the first 2 years only.

This last item is a real help if you already have a health problem. If you are sick before you take out this Policy, you will even be covered for that condition after the Policy has been in effect for only 2 years. Meanwhile, of course, every new condition is immediately covered.

Make your decision carefully.

Think how costly a hospital confinement will be. Imagine paying for those indispensable X-rays, doctor bills, medicines and drugs that are not covered by your present insurance.

Would you be able to afford the quiet and privacy of a private room and a private nurse, should you so desire? Or a telephone to keep in touch with loved ones? Or the rental of a TV set to help pass the lonely hours? Who would pay your bills that keep on coming in at home? Many folks have lost their life savings, their cars, even their homes trying to meet such expenses. And no one knows whose turn it will be next.

Why you must act before the date shown in the Enrollment Form — just a few days from today.

Why do we give you so little time to apply for your insurance Policy – only a few days? Because this is a special Enrollment Period – and as mentioned above, we must receive your Enrollment Form the same time as all the others in order to pass on to you the savings that come from processing many policies at one time. This highly efficient "Mass Enrollment" method cuts costs to the bone – and the savings are passed on to you!

We mail you the Policy as soon as we receive the Enrollment Form. When the Policy arrives, examine it in the privacy of your own home. Take all the time you need. It's a very short document, and you'll be pleasantly surprised to discover there is NO FINE PRINT. Then—show it, if you wish, to someone you trust. Perhaps your lawyer, accountant or banker. Better still – show it to your own insurance man... even though he may very well be working for another insurance company! If he is a personal friend, he has your best interests in mind. So you can believe him when he tells you there is no better bargain available anywhere – at any price!

GRATEFUL POLICYOWNERS PRAISE PRESIDENTIAL PROTECTION

"Let me say the full payment as per the policy was most gratifying. There was doubt in our minds for some time especially where we started with only a first payment of 25¢, but that doubt now has been completely erased. The settlement definitely was in full payment for the time in the hospital and our sincere thanks for the check."

LETHA SCHRECKENGAST, Cedar Rapids, Iowa

"Just a few words to thank you for the prompt manner in which you settled my claim. I certainly will recommend Presidential Life Ins. to my friends."

MRS. SYLVIA LEVIN, Los Angeles, California

Presidential Life rated "A+ Excellent."

Dunne's Insurance Report, the world's largest reporting service, gives Presidential a rating of "A+ EXCELLENT." There is no higher rating a company can attain.

Money-Back Guarantee—in case you change your mind.

Even after you mail your Enrollment Form below... even after you examine the Policy in your own home and talk it over with anyone you wish... even after all this, you are still free to return the Policy within 15 days after receiving it, and your quarter will be refunded at once. There will be no obligation whatever.

Meanwhile, all during the 15 days you are making up your mind—you'll be protected by $100.00-A-WEEK extra cash benefits, just as if you had already said "yes." That's right, you will be fully covered all this time for any accident which puts you in the hospital, even if you finally decide to return the Policy.

However, after you've seen the Policy for yourself, you will surely agree that this is a tremendous value and you'll want to continue this $100.00-A-WEEK extra cash protection under the Plan that's best for you.

PLAN I — INDIVIDUAL(S) ONLY PLAN:

If you want to cover yourself – or yourself and one or more adult dependents (including your spouse) – then this is the Plan for you. Naturally, at these low rates, we can issue only one Policy of this type per person. Each adult, 18 or over, pays the rate applicable to his or her age.

Age at Enrollment	Monthly Premium
18-39	only $3.95
40-49	only $4.95
50-59	only $5.95
60-74	only $6.95
75 and over	only $8.95

PLAN II — FAMILY PLAN WITH MATERNITY:

This Plan is for the family that is still growing. To the total of the monthly premium for the adults to be insured, just add $5. This entitles you to all maternity benefits. It also covers all your unmarried, dependent children between the ages of 3 months and 19 years who live at home. Future dependent children will be covered when they reach 3 months of age and without any additional charge.

PLAN III — FAMILY PLAN WITHOUT MATERNITY:

This Plan is for the family that is no longer growing. To the total of the monthly premium for the adults to be insured, just add $3. This covers all your unmarried, dependent children between the ages of 3 months and 19 years who live at home.

NOTE: The regular Monthly Premium shown here (for age at time of enrollment) is the same low premium you will continue to pay; it will not automatically increase as you pass from one age bracket to the next! Once you have enrolled in this Presidential Plan, your rate can never be changed because of how much or how often you collect from us—or because of advanced age—but only if there is a general rate adjustment, up or down, on all policies of this type in your entire state!

Act now — "later" may be too late!

TIME IS PRECIOUS! Act quickly! (No salesman will call.) Get your Enrollment Form into the mail today—because once you suffer an accident or sickness, it's TOO LATE to buy protection at any cost. That's why we urge you to act today – before anything unexpected happens.

THESE 23 QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Tell you how Presidential's COST OF LIVING INCOME REPLACEMENT HEALTH AND ACCIDENT PLAN gives you the protection you need — at amazingly low cost!

1. How much will my Policy pay me when I go to the hospital?
   The full amount! You are paid $100.00-A-WEEK cash every single week. And it starts the very first day you are in the hospital. (If you are over 65, you are paid $70.00 a week, in addition to any Medicare benefits you receive.) You are paid $50.00 a week up to 100 weeks every time your children go to the hospital when you are enrolled in the Family Plan.
2. Will I be paid if I am hospitalized for less than a full week?
   You certainly will... regardless of whether you are in the hospital for as short a time as one day... or as long a time as a week, month, year or more.
3. Does this Plan pay you from the first day of hospitalization?
   Yes! You receive full cash benefits of $100.00 a week starting the very first day you enter the hospital. The coverage begins when we accept your completed form and 25¢—that is the day you and your loved ones are covered for any accidents. Sickness coverage begins 30 days after the Effective Date of the Policy.
4. How much do I receive for a Registered Nurse at Home?
   $100.00 A WEEK for up to $5,000.00 after you have been hospitalized for 3 days or more, and your doctor has you employ a full-time Registered Nurse within 5 days after you leave the hospital. Ten years from now it will have increased to $130.00 a week in benefits... at no extra cost to you!
5. Are there any accidental death benefits?
   Yes. $1,000.00 cash is paid to your estate when death occurs any time within 90 days of an accident.
6. Will I be paid extra if I lose a limb or eyesight?
   Yes. Presidential pays $1,000.00 for complete accidental loss of one hand or one foot or sight of one eye; $2,000.00 for loss of both hands or both feet or sight of both eyes... when dismemberment occurs anytime within 90 days of the accident.
7. How much do we receive for pregnancies?
   If you have the Family Plan With Maternity, you receive $100.00 A WEEK for each pregnancy, chlidbirth or miscarriage that results in hospital confinement when both husband and wife are enrolled under this Plan for the entire period of pregnancy.
8. Suppose I am paid benefits for any sickness or accident. What happens if I am again hospitalized for the same condition?
   Don't worry. You still collect $100.00 A WEEK for a total of 100 weeks. And if you have already resumed full normal activities for just 90 days, it's considered a new confinement, and you can collect for an additional 100 weeks. Of course, any new condition is covered immediately for a full 100 weeks.
9. How may I use these benefit payments?
   You may use them in any way you wish—for hospital and doctor bills, rent, food, household expenses or anything else. This is entirely up to you.
10. May I apply if I am over 65?
    Yes, you may. Folks any age are welcome to apply—there is no age limit! Members over 65 are paid $70.00 a week plus all Medicare benefits.
11. Can I collect from Presidential even if I carry other insurance?
    Of course. This Plan will pay you in addition to whatever you may receive from policies with any other companies, including Medicare for folks over 65.
12. Why do I need this Presidential Plan in addition to my other hospital and health insurance?
    While hospital costs have doubled in recent years, very few people have doubled their insurance. The chances are one in seven that you will need money to take care of all your other expenses, as well as your hospital bills. Your Presidential checks are rushed to you by mail to use as you see fit.
13. What benefits do my eligible, dependent children get?
    If you choose a Family Type Plan, your dependent eligible children, ages 3 months to 19 years, would receive 50% of all the cash benefits of the basic Plan and 100% of all its other benefits and features (other than Waiver of Premium).
14. May I add future dependent children to my Policy after it is in force?
    Yes, indeed, if you have the FAMILY PLAN WITH MATERNITY. Just notify us when they are 3 months old, and they will be covered without evidence of insurability and without any additional charge.
15. Will my protection be cancelled because I have too many claims?
    No, definitely not! Presidential guarantees never to cancel your protection because you have too many claims or because of advanced age. We also guarantee never to refuse to renew your Policy unless the premium is not paid before the end of the 31-day grace period, or unless renewal is declined on all Policies of this type in your entire state.
16. Will my rates be raised as I grow older or if I have too many claims?
    No matter how many claims you have, or regardless of how long you keep your Policy, your rate will remain the same as it was for your age when you applied. Presidential guarantees never to adjust this rate unless the rates are adjusted on all policies of this type in your entire state.
17. What is not covered by this Policy?
    The only conditions not covered are those caused by: mental disorders; intoxicants and narcotics; where care is in a U.S. Government hospital; expenses resulting from any sickness or injury you had before the Policy Effective Date (during the first 2 years only); act of war. EVERYTHING ELSE IS COVERED—including pregnancy when both husband and wife have been enrolled in the FAMILY PLAN WITH MATERNITY for the entire period of pregnancy.
18. What are the requirements for membership in one of the Presidential Plans?
    You must not have been refused any health, hospital or life insurance; and, to qualify during this Enrollment Period, you must enroll before midnight of the date in the Enrollment Form.
19. Why is this offer good for a limited time only?
    Because, by enrolling a large number of people at the same time, underwriting, processing and policy issuance costs can be kept at a minimum—and we can pass these savings on to you.
20. Besides the savings, are there other advantages to joining Presidential during this Enrollment Period?
    Yes, there certainly are. A very important one is that you do not need to complete a lengthy, detailed application—just your brief form in the lower left hand corner of this page. Also, during this Enrollment Period there are no other requirements for eligibility—and no "waivers" or restrictive endorsements can be put on your Policy!
21. Can other members of my family take advantage of this special offer?
    Yes, as long as they can meet the few requirements listed under Question 18.
22. How does the Money-Back Guarantee work?
    Examine your Policy carefully in the privacy of your own home. If for any reason you are not completely satisfied, return it within 15 days, and we will promptly refund your money. Meanwhile, you will be fully protected while making your decision!
23. How do I join?
